ALLIES NOW ON OFFENSIVE

French Report Says Allied Forces
Are Pushing Fighting in Belgium.

WAR SUMMARY.

(Associated Press.)
Germany today acknowledges that
the Russian Northern army has penetrated their lines in east Prussia
and are now about twenty miles
west of the German border.

SEMI-OFFICIAL REPORTS FROM PETRO-
GRAD SAY THAT THE GERMANS ARE RE-
TREATING IN DISORDER ON THE PRUSSIAN
BATTLE FRONT WHILE THE GREAT BATTLE IN
OUT ANY DECISIVE RESULTS.

ALLIES ON OFFENSIVE.
A French official statement says
that in Belgium the allies are now
on the offensive.

HEAVY CASUALTIES.
Today's report from Hungary
places the Austro-Hungarian casualties at 900,000 men and 12,000 officers.

SIEGE OF CRACOW
STARTED BY RUSSIANS.

Milan, Nov. 30.—The siege of Cracovie has begun. The Russians are bombarding the city with heavy
siege guns.

Buenos Ayres, Nov. 30.—It is reported from Montevideo that a British squadron, composed of ten vessels,
has been sighted off Cape Polonio
steaming west southward. It is understood that other British vessels
are concentrating near the entrance
to Magellan.

The government has sent a cruiser
with orders to prevent a battle with Uruguayan waters.

The whereabouts of the German
squadron is not known.

Would Have Japan Enter Europe.
Paris, Nov. 30.—M. Pichon, former
foreign minister, in an editorial in the Petit Journal, returns to his advocacy
of Japanese participation in the European campaign. He says:

"The moment of decisive action approaches. The allies must employ
all their forces to chase the Germans
from France and Belgium and rid the
world of the barbarians who menace
civilization. Japan is officially an ally of England, has agreements with France and Russia and is at war with Germany."

M. Pichon demands that the chan-celleries of the allies lose no time
in arranging means by which Japan
may aid the allies.

War Tax Must Be Paid Before Midnight Tonight

Failure To Do So May Mean Fine of $500 And Increased Tax

Several Dixon business men will be liable to a maximum fine of $500 and a sentence of six months' imprisonment unless they file schedules and pay fees for federal licenses under the emergency war tax before midnight tonight.

Not only will they be liable for this sentence but they will also be forced to pay half again as much for their license.

These provisions of the law include every man who handles tobacco runs pool or billiard tables or bowling alleys, pawn brokers and theatre men,
druggists, insurance men, lawyers,
real estate dealers, dairy farmers,
telephone, telegraph and railroad companies will all be affected by the law,
but they will not have to take out licenses.

LAST RITES SAID FOR MISS GROVER

FUNERAL SERVICES WERE HELD
AT BROTHER'S HOME SUN-
DAY AFTERNOON.

A large number of the friends of
the late Miss Edith Grover attended
the last sad rites for her which were said by Rev. A. B. Whitcomb at the home of the deceased's brother, Blake
Grover, Sunday afternoon. Many beautiful floral tributes marked the establishment in which the departed lady was held and Mesdames Lee Read and Herbert Harms sang two beautiful selections. The pall bearers were A. P.
Corbin, Mark Keller, H. A. Ahrens,
R. H. Scott, R. L. Johnson and Lee
Redfern. Burial was at Oakwood cemetery.

APPROVES FINAL ESTIMATES

The certificates of final cost in Local Improvement ordinances Nos.
160 and 161, were approved by County Judge Scott in the county
court this morning. The ordinances
provide for brick paving on East Second street and concrete paving on Seventh street and the Chicago
Road respectively.

BOYS PLAN ENTERTAINMENT

The Boys' Club of the Y. M. C. A.
had a splendid meeting yesterday afternoon, about 50 being present. The meeting yesterday was for the purpose of forming an organization. The club was made into two divisions,
the Senior and the Junior, but both
divisions will unite in giving entertainments to raise money for their
camp next year, in giving a father
and son banquet, hikes and other enjoyable features.

PRESIDENT STONE OF BROTHER-HOOD OF RAILWAY ENGINEERS

WAGE MEDIATION ON IN CHICAGO

Railroads Present Their Case
to Board.

(Associated Press.)
Chicago, Nov. 30.—The adjustment
of wages and working hours of 55-000 engineers and firemen employed
on 98 western railroads was begun
today before the federal arbitration
board. The men ask an increase of 10
per cent in wages.

In his opening statement for the engineers President Stone dwelt up-
on the hardships the men suffer;
the long hours they have to work
and the hazards they take, and said
they were entitled to better working
conditions and wages.

He declared the railroads medi-
tated the increase of train loads
which would thereby increase the present responsibilities and labor of
the engineers and firemen although
"the present hard conditions have reached the limit of human endurance."

BIG CROWD ATTENDED FINAL EN-TERTAINMENT—WOHNKE
WON RING.

The annual bazar of the Dixon
Elks came to a most successful close
at Rosbrook hall Saturday evening,
the crowd being exceptionally large
and contagiously happy. During the entire evening the dance floor was
crowded to capacity while the candy
booth was a decidedly busy place. The chief interest of the evening of course
centered in the awarding of the diamond ring, Fred Wahnke being the
successful contestant.

POST OFFICES WILL ASSIST PRODUCER

LIST OF TRUCK FARMERS
IN COMMUNITY.

The postoffice department is now
evolving a scheme with the idea of
reducing the present high cost of living. The scheme will bring about a method of sales of the farm produce
through the mails directly from producer to consumer, thus cutting the expense of shipment and profits of the middlemen.

Large lists of names are being compiled in the different postoffices. The list containing producers will be printed and distributed among consumers and the list of consumers will
be printed and distributed among the producers.

The parcel post system will be used
and parcels may be sent collect, under the new system, the collection being made by the postoffice department when delivery is made to the
party to whom the parcel was sent.
The regular parcel post charges will
prevail under the new system.

ANOTHER CONTINUANCE TAKEN

The case against Mrs. Jennie Keen-nan, who is charged with assault and battery and disturbing the peace and
which was called for hearing before Police Magistrate Kent today, was again continued for ten days. The
case involves the boundary line of
land and the continuance was taken
to give the engineers more time to complete their survey of the lands.

SHERMAN IS FOR BIG NAVY

Chicago, Nov. 30.—Senator Sherman of Illinois advocated today the
building of at least four battleships
yearly by the United States navy until the navy is adequate to defend
the coast line. He also favored increasing the standing army to 200-
000 men.

State Tax Rate Reduced Today At Conference

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 30.—The
tax rate for the year was reduced
from 70 cents to 48 cents at the conference of Governor Dunne and the
state auditor and state treasurer.
The state has a balance in the treasury of $10,000,000, this making the reduction possible.

GOOD SHOOT AT STEWARD

The Steward Gun club held a very successful shoot at their club house
in Steward Thanksgiving day. Several hundred sportsmen were present and
many of them came from considerable distance. There was a big delegation from Mt. Morris and the marksmen from that town took home a fair
portion of the prizes. The Steward
men have equipped their club in up-
to-date manner. Standard rules are observed. The next shoot is scheduled for the day before Christmas.

INSTALL SYSTEM AT ORPHANAGE

A septic sewerage disposal system has been installed at the Na-
chusa Orphanage by Bert Smice and
his plumbers from this city. The system was completed Saturday and
is one of the most complete ever installed. The system contains more

ATTENDED MASONIC FUNERAL

A number of Dixon Masons went to Sterling Sunday afternoon to attend the funeral of Capt. John W.
Niles, who for many years was secretary of the Masonic orders there,
and who over a year ago celebrated his fiftieth anniversary as a Master Mason. The funeral was in charge of the Knights Templar and was

CHURCH JANITOR IS HELD FOR DAUGHTERS MYSTERIOUS DEATH

MT. PLEASANT, IOWA, SCENE OF SENSATION FOLLOWING
GIRL'S DEMISE.

Fact That the Father Burned Flour
Results in His Detention

(Associated Press.)
Mt. Pleasant, Ia., Nov. 30.—J. B.
Jordan, a church janitor, has been
held here pending an investigation
into the death of his nineteen-year-
old daughter Inez, who was taken
sick after eating pancakes, and who died soon afterward.

Her mother and sister and Jordan
himself were made ill at the same
time, but the fact that he threw into
the fire the rest of the flour from
which the pancakes were made led to his detention. He protests his innocence.

FREIGHT WRECK AT WOOSUNG SATURDAY

DELAYED SEVERAL HOURS
BY DERAILMENT.

A big Illinois Central freight engine jumped the track at the siding
just south of Woosung late Saturday
afternoon and as a result traffic on
that road was delayed for several hours. The engine was pulling a heavy freight and jumped just as it
was being driven onto the siding to allow the afternoon southbound passenger to pass.

The wrecker was called from Free-
port and spent several hours clearing
the wreckage before traffic could be resumed. Conductor Peter O'Rourke
was in charge of the freight.

ACTION IN REGARD TO DE-LINQUENT BOY.

Another chapter in the career of
Floyd Carley has been opened and it will not be closed until he has been released from the St. Charles school
for incorrigible boys. An order was entered in the county court by Judge
Scott this morning that he be taken
there. Nothing was done in regard
to his younger brother Howard.

The two boys were taken to the Glenwood Training school for boys
about two months ago after they had broken into and stolen a number of
articles from the Hensel Motorcycle
shop. They remained there only a few days and made their escape, returning to this city. As a result,
the order relating to Floyd Carley
was changed this morning directing that he be sent to the St. Charles
school.

Nelson Farmers Organize To Stop All Trespassing

Shooting of Cow on Ashling
Wilson Farm Arouses
All Nelsonites

The farmers of Nelson township
will meet tomorrow to organize a protective association, the object of
which will be to vigorously prosecute
hunters who trespass on their lands.
The action will be taken as the result of the shooting of a valuable cow
on the Ashling Wilson farm last week
Investigation showed that the shot
which killed the animal was fired
at close range, as the small shot had
not spread over a greater area than
the size of the palm of a man's hand,
and it is the belief of those who have investigated that the animal was shot deliberately. As a result the Nelson farmers are up in arms, and following tomorrow's meeting a careful
watch for trespassers will be kept and
a fund will be provided for prosecution.

F. A. ZOELLER LAID TO REST SUNDAY

MANY FRIENDS PAID LAST TRIB-
OF COUNTY.

The funeral of Frank A. Zoeller,
who for over half a century was a resident of Lee county, was held at the home of his daughter, Mrs. George Kreitzer, Sunday afternoon and was attended by many friends of the deceased. The funeral sermon was delivered by Rev. F. D. Altman, pastor
of the Lutheran church, and was a worthy tribute of a worthy man. The remains were borne to their last resting place in Oakwood cemetery by the following pall bearers: W. H. Hogan,
J. J. O'Malley, James Allen, W. H.
Fleming, W. H. Hoberg and Elmer
Hendricks.

Attorney James W. Watts left this morning for Mt. Vernon where he will assist in conducting one of the
quarterly state bar examinations.
Nearly 150 applicants will be tested
for admission to the bar. Judge Watts was appointed a member of the state board of bar examiners by the Supreme court about a month
ago.

GEORGE C. BROWN DIED IN WEST

George C. Brown, who for many

Brethren Revivals Start On Second Week With Interest

The revival meetings at the Brethren church have started into the second week with splendid interest. Despite unfavorable weather conditions
yesterday the services were well attended morning and evening. That
the deep spiritual discourses are being enjoyed, and that those coming
are not curiosity seekers is evidenced
by the reappearance of the same
faces. In the morning discourse the Church of Christ and its place in the
redemption plan was the theme, the
evangelist developed the idea upon scripture texts, that the church of Christ was a mystery hidden in the
mind and will of God, before the foundation of the world, not revealed in
other ages, but first manifested at Pentecost, and Paul was made the
great exponent of its institutional
character, life and destiny. The church
is not only an organization, but a living organism. The difference between these two, is the difference between a dead carcass and a living body. Like
the vine and the human body, so is
the church a composite unity of living

COMMISSION TO HOLD TRIAL OF POLICE OFFICER

DIVISION OF SENTIMENT DEVEL-OPS IN CASE OF OFFICER
CUNNINGHAM.

PETITION PLEADS FOR HIM

Affidavits Produced — Resolution
Asking Investigation Passes the Council—Trial Dec. 3rd.

In the absence of Mayor W. B.
Brinton, Commissioner Henry Schmidt presided as acting mayor over
the deliberations of the city council
in its regular session this morning.
The feature of the meeting was the
discussion of the case of Phillip
Cunningham, a local police officer,
who has been charged with intoxica-
tion.

Bills to the amount of $2443.37
were allowed and a permit to move
a building in West Dixon was granted.

Divided Opinion.

The Cunningham affair seems to
have stirred up considerable interest. It seems that reports came to Commissioner Van Bibber, of the department of public health and safety
that Officer Cunningham had not
been conducting himself according
to the recognized rules of the organization. The officer was suspended,
but according to the ordinance, he
is entitled to a trial, and so formal
charges, accusing him of being in an intoxicated condition, have been filed with the city clerk and Commissioner Van Bibber today produced affidavits which he had secured from Dixon people who claim
to have seen Cunningham in what
they believed to be an intoxicated
condition. Affidavits from Daniel
W. McKinney, Roy Withers, Jerry
Onen and Hannah Falstrom, along
this line were produced and read in council. Commissioner Van Bibber
also said that he had a list of 27 persons who had stated that they had
seen the policeman in this condition.

Opposed to this evidence was a petition signed by a large number of
the most influential men in the city
pronouncing Cunningham to be a man of good character, etc., and asking the commission to return Cunningham to the force. The signers
on the petition are men of such
character that it shows there is a great diversity of opinion on the question.

The following resolution was offered by Commissioner Van Bibber
and passed without a contesting vote:

Resolution.

Whereas, charges have been filed
against Phillip Cunningham, a police officer of the City of Dixon, Illinois,
alleging that the said Phillip Cunningham was in a state of intoxication while on duty as police officer
of said city, and

Wire Thief Apprehended By Associated Press

The interesting manner in which
the officials of the Associated Press
apprehended a "wire thief" is told in the following dispatch from New York:

New York—H. L. Linder, a telegraph operator in the employ of the Postal Telegraph company and attached to the office of the New York
Globe, was arrested here on Friday
charged with violating section 552 of
the penal law, in that he revealed the
contents of a telegraphic message
sent out by the Associated Press.

For a long time it has been evident that the dispatches of the Associated Press were being stolen systematically and were redistributed by a number of smaller agencies to their clients.

Suspect Man in Globe Office.
A careful watch was set upon the
business and suspicion pointed to a certain man employed in the office of the Globe, a New York evening paper,
as the guilty party.

The case was considered by the executive committee of the Associated Press directors at a recent meeting,
and a plan to detect the culprits and

bring them to justice was adopted.

more important news in bulletins,
wires connect the central office of the organization at 51 Chambers street
with the editorial rooms of various members in New York.

Bulletins Copied Secretly.

In the office of the Globe these bulletins were copied surreptitiously by
H. L. Linder, a telegraph operator employed by the Postal Telegraph company, and repeated to the New York
News bureau, a Wall street concern.

Frequently within two or three minutes after their receipt in the office of
the Globe they appeared on the news
bureau's ticker and in the reports of the International News service, the Central News of America and other
minor organizations.

Plan to Trap Wire Tapper.

For the purpose of trapping the
wire tappers the following dispatch

Checked Chic from Paris. cuffs of black satin formed by the reversible nature of the material. The skirt is quite plain, with a flounce of black satin. An original note is made with the sash of purple satin, lined with mouseline-de-soie in the same shade. The white lawn chemisette, perfectly plain, and without anything in the shape of a jabot has as ornament a single pearl in the centre pleat. The caplike black hat worn with it fits the head closely at the back, but shades the face a little in front. It is in a mixture of black and white fine straw, with a purple satin bow on one side. In the costume before us the violet satin and mouseline-de-soie sash upon this black and white dress gives it distinctive charm.

Red Mouseline. Two Odd Jabots. One was, strictly speaking, a tie; it was of black velvet, with little flowers done in ribbon-work in a queer, pinkish old gold. The center of each blossom was held down by a tiny gilt bead; and the maker said it took her just half an hour to fashion! The other was really a jabot; silk embroidered mull, all white, with the alternate figures worked over in the very palest colors—blue and pink and green and violet and yellow, all very faint and subdued. The effect was charming, and was heightened by a lace ruffle dyed in iridescent hues, but, like the jabot itself, very quiet and inconspicuous.

A Dressmaking Hint. In stitching the work drops over the machine and often is dragged into the wheel. A plain cretonne curtain, tacked just under the shelf or table of the machine, helps wonderfully with this trouble. Tacks must not be left out to catch on the work.

The very latest Paris modification of the artificial corsage bouquet is the single flower, orchid or chrysanthemum, or what not, worked in delicate shades of fine work wool, wondrously wrought both as to form and color, and nestled within the scarf.

From a Girl's Notebook. No one is so particular in his description of a thing as the man who is ordering the impossible and is too dumb to know it.

Beads are used to give striped effects on mouseline de soie.

OVERCOATS.

An overcoat is a sort of supercoat, designed for defense. Against a good thick overcoat a hostile winter can charge vainly for months, retiring with great losses in the spring.

The overcoat is the logical division between the bread line and the pay check. It is the first thing a man buys after he has acquired a job and the last thing he pawns while watchfully waiting for the eminent financiers of the land to get over their regular attacks of tenth year shivers.

A good thick overcoat against which a blizzard will curl up and ruin its edges can be bought for $7.00. A considerably thinner overcoat can also be purchased for $120.00. Yet the man who buys the latter coat regards the former with scorn and alludes to him as "the ignorant" class.

Overcoats tell much more of the careful observer than the palms of the hands. When a man wears a broadcloth coat with a Persian lamb collar it is a sign that he will curse fervently when the income tax is mentioned. When a man wears a costly old coat with a greasy collar it is a sign that he is right but not socially ambitious, and that dollars escaping from his hands will be considerably thinner and wider than before.

When a husband and father wears an arrogant overcoat which flares in the skirts and looks saucy about the waist, it is a sign that his wife has to plan an attack upon him for a new winter hat as carefully as if he were defended by floating mines. On the other hand, when a husband and father is continually making last year's overcoat do for one more winter his family devours his pay check and he walks to and from work for exercise.

Now and then a young man may be observed wearing an overcoat which was apparently designed by a cubist master. In such cases it is perfectly safe to approach the young man in a familiar way and ask him for a cigarette and his college yell.

Occasionally one also discovers an elderly man with iron gray hair wearing an overcoat with gillows of furry collar and cuffs. In this case one should mention the stage with caution unless he is willing to spend the rest of the afternoon hearing about Broadway.

Overcoats are a punishment to the small boy, a boon to the grown man and a trial to the old settler who has to be hoisted into one by two daughters and a grandson. Americans are divided roughly into two classes—those who worry about styles in overcoats and those who ask how long they will wear.

WEEKLY SPORTING LETTER

Associated Press Experts Tell of Interesting Events in the World of Sport -- Live Sporting News From all over the World.

New York, Nov. 30 -- Following the annual Army-Navy football game in Philadelphia will come the usual selection of an all-American and all-Eastern and all-Western teams for the season of 1914. The adherents of the two United States Academy teams will await these mythical combinations with more than usual interest; this season since both the Annapolis and West Point teams include players thought by their admirers to be of an all-American calibre.

Last year the Army and Navy each succeeded in placing a player on the team considered by football players in general to be the nearest approach to an official eleven. Browne of the Cadets team was placed at right guard and Merillat of the Middle at right end. This brought the total up to ten for the period extending from 1901 to 1913. Bunker, the Army's right tackle and Daly, quarterback in 1901, were the first service players to make the all-American team. Daly had, however, made the teams of 1898 and 1899, while playing quarter for Harvard.

In 1902 the Cadets were again represented by Bunker, who was placed at right halfback in that year. Two years later the Army's famous center, Tipton, was the unanimous choice of the experts for the position of passer back of the ball. Three years elapsed before an academy player was again mentioned and then the Navy placed Dague, left end of the 1907 combination, on the eleven, while Erwin, the Army's right guard was also named. It was not until 1911 that the Service football men made the all-American team again. In that year the two academies divided honors, Devore of the Cadets being at right tackle and Dalton of the Navy at fullback. As a result the count stands at present, Army 7, Navy 3.

BASE BALL TALK.

With the passing of football there comes a lull in the active major sports of the nation, but the fans composed of the Winter Baseball league will keep interest alive even though the magnates break all precedent by imitating the Sphinx. With Organized Baseball, the Players' Fraternity, and the Federal league all offering fuel there should be no need of fanning the flames. In fact all signs point to one of the liveliest seasons of indoor baseball in a decade.

Although the echoes of the world's series are just dying away the magnates, managers and players are already planning for the 1915 campaign. Regardless of the possibility of sensational changes in ownership and circuit, arrangements for the spring training trip of a number of the clubs have already been planned. The Chicago Nationals will work out the winter stiffness at Tampa, Fla., beginning on March 1; the St. Louis Nationals have selected Hot Wells,

Texas, as their spring camp and the New York Nationals will return to Marlinton, Texas, for the third season.

The Boston Nationals, champions of the baseball universe, have decided to prepare for the 1915 pennant race at Hot Springs, Ark., and will have company in the Boston Americans and some of the Pittsburgh Nationals for a time at least. The Pirates will spend a portion of their time at Dawson Springs, Ky., while the present Detroit Americans are scheduled to return to Gulfport, Miss., reporting late in February. The Philadelphia Nationals are expected to lumber up in St. Petersburg, Fla., and the other clubs have either signed renewals for their former camps or are selecting new training quarters.

WILLARD IS BIG MAN.

If the bout between Jack Johnson and Jess Willard, articles for which Johnson signed in London recently, according to cable dispatches, takes place, the champion will find himself confronted in the ring by the biggest man he has ever faced. Willard is 6 feet 5 1/2 inches tall and weighs between 230 and 240 pounds in ring costume. He is 26 years of age and has a reach of 82 1/2 inches. Johnson is 6 feet 1 1/4 inches in height and weighs about 210 in condition. He has a reach of 72 inches. His age at the time tentatively set for the bout would be 37 years. A comparison of these figures show that Willard would have an advantage of at least twenty pounds in weight; five inches in height and close to ten years in age.

There would be a far greater difference in the physical proportions of the boxers than was the case when Johnson won his title from Jim Jeffries at Reno, Nev., on July 4, 1910. Johnson at that time was 32 years old to Jeffries' 35; weighed 209 to his opponent's 230 and had a reach of 72 inches to Jeffries' 75. Willard's greatest advantage over Johnson would be his youth for in but one championship bout among heavyweights in modern times has there been a difference of 10 or more years between the principals. John L. Sullivan was 34 years old when James J. Corbett defeated him at New Orleans in 1892, at the age of 26. Corbett was 31 when Bob Fitzsimmons at the age of 35 defeated him at Carson City, Nev., and Fitzsimmons was 37 when Jeffries was but 24 years old. Fitzsimmons lasted 11 rounds against Jeffries at the age of 37, but the Cornishman was a physical marvel, differing greatly from the modern heavyweight.

Dramatic Notes

FAMILY THEATRE

The following four subjects will be shown at the Family this evening: The Ham Lenceman, a Kalem comedy along a new line; Dick Patten's Wife, an Edison modern fairy story; The Green Rose, with Alice Joyce, Tom Moore and Marguerite Courtot; The Upper Hand, a Vitagraph comedy with a beautiful love story. To shield himself he blemishes his wife's good name which she clears and later becomes the wife of the man who loves and honors her. Tomorrow the seventeenth episode of the Perils of Pauline, in two parts, will be shown.

DIXON OPEAR HOUSE

Back to the movies again tonight, two installments of the Trey O'Hearts, four reels of great pictures. Two of the most exciting episodes of this wonderful serial will be seen tonight, the 13th and 14th installments next Monday concludes the series. A three reel installment. Don't miss "His Uncle's Will" tomorrow night, a wonderful two reel Rex drama, "The Hoodoo," a Joker comedy and "Dolly's Deliverance," a frontier drama.

PRINCESS THEATRE.

Tonight the Princess will show a fine program in a two reel feature entitled "Mrs. Van Ruyter's Stratagem" a Thanhouser drama with Harry Benham, Muriel Ostriche and Carey Hastings in the leading roles. This is an exceptionally interesting society drama in which a wealthy widow has reason to suspect the sincerity of her relatives who are in line to inherit her fortune. The other pictures are "Motherhood," a Beauty drama with Marguerite Fisher and Harry Polard in the leading roles. This is a powerful allegory of a girl and man who meet in the garden of love. The other picture is entitled "The Little Country Mouse," a Majestic drama with Blanche Sweet and Wallace Reid in the leading roles. This is a clever situation, well handled by two screen favorites.

GARRICK THEATRE CHICAGO.

"Peg O' My Heart" Continues to be the biggest hit in Chicago. The deference to popular taste so often mentioned as a reason for presenting plays which startle by boldness of theme instead of appealing by force of idea, or grace of expression, does not seem to be entirely appreciated by that same public for whose sake so much sacrifice of managerial modest is made. There have been numerous experiments with triangular plots, in the fall productions in Chicago, but Oliver Morosco's comedy success: "Peg O' My Heart," J. Hartley Manners' play continues on its fifth month at the Garrick theatre, with a popularity that is smashing all previous Garrick attendance records.

Oliver Morosco, the California producer, is indeed to be commended for his selection of this simple and most straightforward of dramas with its sweet, old-fashioned love story, its English novelists like to draw. The refreshing role of Peg, is cleverly played in Chicago by Miss Peggy O'Neil.

A PAIR OF SIXES.

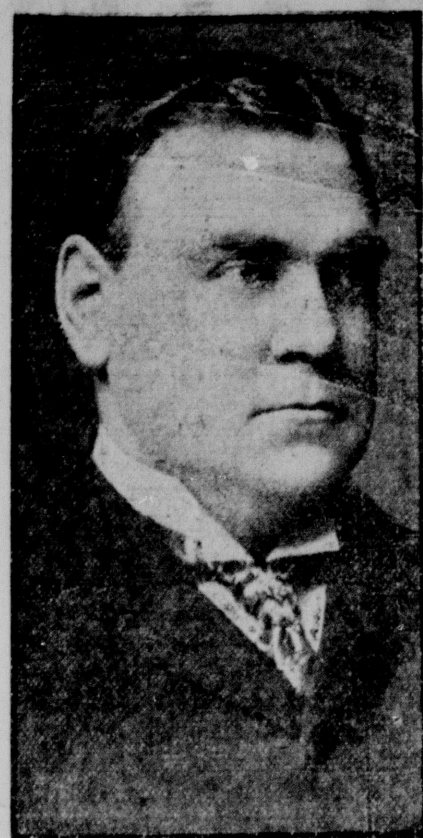

Seldom in the theatrical history of Chicago has any play scored such a tremendous success as "A Pair of Sixes," the original American farce by Edward Peple, which is now filling the Cort theatre to capacity every evening and on Wednesday and Saturday matinee. The Cort theatre is a playhouse noted for its fine attractions and long runs, but it is breaking all its former records with "A Pair of Sixes." This play is now in its third month in Chicago, and there is no falling away of patronage, no lessening in size and enthusiasm of the audiences. Before coming to Chicago "A Pair of Sixes" enjoyed a run of eight months in New York, and naturally the Chicago success was expected. The play is clean, wholesome and bright notwithstanding the fact that it is one succession of explosive laughter from the time the curtain rises until the final line. The comedy is of the pure American type, dealing with business and with the domestic side of life, with just sufficient love-making to give it a tinge of romance.

The finest comedy cast ever engaged appears in "A Pair of Sixes." It includes Frank McIntyre, remembered as the star of The Traveling Salesman; May Vokes, star of When Dreams Come True, and The Quaker Girl; Ethel Jackson, star of The Merry Widow; Sam Hardy, star of Stop Thief; Richard Ling, Oza Waldrop, Elise Scott, James Galloway and a dozen others.

DEMENTTOWN DOINGS

On the best of authority we learn that tomorrow is the first day of the last month. Goodness, how time does fly.

Really, between doing one's Christmas shopping early and formulating New Years resolutions, one is kept strikingly busy.

It is reported that John D. Rockefeller urges the American people to do their Christmas shopping "oily."

A certain Dixon young lady—the story is told by a friend—while in Chicago on a recent visit, consulted a fortune teller. The clairvoyant, turning her seance, told the young lady to beware of a dark man whom she would meet soon, adding, "He will be a villain." And the girl replied, "How perfectly delightful. How soon will I meet him?"

Retired.

Among the Monday morning culprits haled before a police magistrate was a darkey with no visible means of support.

"What occupation have you here in Baltimore?" asked the magistrate.

"Well, judge," said the darkey, "I ain't doin' much at present—jest circulat'n' round, suh."

His Honor turned to the clerk of the court and said:

CALL SUNDAY TO CHICAGO.

Sixty-five congregations of Chicago have united in a call to Rev. "Billy" Sunday to come to the Windy City and conduct a series of revival meetings in a big tabernacle on the west side. The call will be delivered to Mr. Sunday at Des Moines this week.

ENJOYED VICTROLA CONCERT.

The Victrola concert, which was given in connection with the evening service at the Baptist church on Sunday evening, proved to be a most interesting and popular innovation and doubtless the instrument will be used more frequently in the coming services.

Chrysanthemum Party.

Miss Tina Nelson of Swissville was hostess to a chrysanthemum party at her home Saturday evening, the pretty affair celebrating the anniversary of her birth. She was 12 years old and 12 little friends aided her in the celebration. It might have been called a chrysanthemum party. The home was prettily decorated in chrysanthemums, yellow and white. After games were played and music enjoyed, a delicious luncheon was served, two tables being set in the dining room, where the candles were shaded in chrysanthemum shades and the same flowers formed the centerpiece in the tables. At each place were dainty place cards with chrysanthemum designs and each little guest received in eager willing little hands a big yellow posy. At a late hour for little folks, the happy guests departed, wishing Miss Tina many happy returns of the day and leaving with her loving reminders of their friendship in the form of pretty gifts.

Herrick-Myers.

A wedding beautiful in its simplicity and exquisitely appointed was that of Miss Ruth-Wilson Herrick of 65 Harvard avenue, Chicago and Ira Lee Myers of Prairieville, which took place Saturday afternoon, at 3 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Marsh Herrick.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. S. Frances of the Englewood Congregational church in the presence of forty-six guests.

The house was appropriately and artistically decorated in oak branches and palms, and pink and white roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin J. Smith attended the couple in the capacity of groomsmen and matron of honor. Mrs. Smith is a sister of the bride.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, George Marsh Herrick, was very beautifully gowned in white chiffon over white satin. She carried bride's roses. The matron of honor, Mrs. Smith was also in white and carried pink roses.

After the congratulations a delicious wedding collation was served. The decorations in the dining room were in oak leaves, roses and ferns.

The young couple will be at home after Jan. 1, at 53 Yale avenue, Chicago. The groom is a traveling salesman in the employ of the Pitzer Hamilton, paper jobbers, with offices at Dearborn avenue, Chicago.

Mr. Myers is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Myers of Prairieville and is well known in Dixon where he has countless friends who extend to him congratulations on the happy event.

Mrs. Myers is a very charming young woman whose many friends also wish her much happiness in her married life. Many handsome gifts were presented the happy couple. Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Myers of Prairieville, father and mother of the groom have returned to their home after attending the wedding of their son.

The congratulations of Dixon friends is extended Mr. and Mrs. Myers.

Helpful Beauty Hints

Mental Suggestions for Health
Offered by the Rev. S. S. McComb—Let the Worrier Use them till the Worries are Gone and Peace is Restored.

"Suggestible as is the conscious mind, the subconscious is still more so," says the Rev. S. S. McComb, at Harper's Bazar. "Now we know that at least twice a day we have all brief periods during which the subconscious is in evidence and during which, therefore, we are especially suggestible. These two periods are those immediately preceding and immediately succeeding sleep. We are then in a half-awake and half-sleeping condition, and any suggestion offered to the mind in that state is, in some inexplicable way, taken up by the brain mechanism and realized. Let the worrier, then, use well these few minutes at night and in the morning, by saturating his brain with suggestions that make against worry and that make for peace, poise, and nervous balance.

Nothing causes the hair so soon to thin and become gray and scanty as the frequent use of shower baths of cold water. The best wash for cleansing the hair and scalp, says the "Family Doctor," is made by putting into a quart of hot rain-water, a piece of lump ammonia about the size of a Brazil nut.

To this add two teaspoonfuls of solution of soft soap.

By the time the ammonia has dissolved the water will probably be cool enough for use. If carbonate of soda is preferred instead of the soft-soap solution, a piece about the same size as the lump of ammonia will suffice.

Dry the hair well after washing with a rough towel—not "Turkish," however, else the hair will get filled with cotton "fluff," than which nothing is more troublesome to extricate.

The wash just mentioned is particularly suitable for fair hair, because both ammonia and soda tend to produce and preserve an auburn or golden hue. Dark-haired persons should use the yolk of an egg beaten up with a little bicarbonate of potash or borax and warm rain-water.

Of Interest to Women

An Apparatus Invented as an Aid to Swimmers—Pneumatic Float Which Leaves Arms and Head Free—Equally Useful for Beginners and Adepts.

A swimming apparatus that is said to be a big improvement has been devised by a German swimming master and is equally useful to beginners and adepts. It will keep the former afloat until he can acquire the proper stroke, and it will enable the expert to swim much farther and without tiring than he could without its aid. The apparatus consists of two oblong chambers, each divided into five compartments and with a loop to hang over the neck and a strap to buckle around the waist. This arrangement leaves the wearer perfectly free and avoids the ponderous characteristics of some of these devices. The swimmer can also take either a vertical or a horizontal position with this apparatus and can either tread water with it or float. When not in use the air can be let out and the supporter folded up and carried in the pocket.

For Both Novices and Experts.

Women's Clothes.

No man has the courage to defend the tall hat. No one professes that it is comfortable, useful or beautiful, but thousands of men (labor leaders among them) habitually wear them. A man in a new-fashioned coat or a new-colored pair of boots is at once an object of contumely, as in a riot which was almost caused at a music hall not long ago by a hero wearing a sparkling dress tie. A correspondent denounces the fashionable tight skirt and declares that the toddling woman is an object of ridicule to the passing man. That may be so in the case of the pioneers to-day, but tomorrow the passing man will insist that his wife shall toddle, also. Let us be just! This is the age of the worship of majorities, and the normal male will not allow the woman that he loves to be peculiar. We believe, therefore, that the one way to withstand the maddest vagaries of fashion is to appeal to woman's sense of the beautiful. It is useless to tell her that men disapprove. She knows his fickleness too well.—London Express.

Women Run Newspaper.

Egyptian women have a weekly newspaper, owned and edited by women. The appearance of the newspaper is regarded as a favorable sign of the development of the women of that country and as a promise of the regeneration of Egypt. The purpose of the paper is to improve the condition of the Moslem women, to educate them and to fit them to earn their own livelihood. It is expected to develop their standard of thought and intelligence and to train them to think and act for themselves. Egyptian women are employed as writers, and the weekly paper relates the society affairs of Cairo, tells of fashions and prints fiction.

Better Than a Tonic.

The woman who wishes to accomplish the best and most work possible will find that one hour's rest at a fixed hour every afternoon will do far more for her than stimulants. In order to obtain the greatest good from this hour's rest she must disrobe as if it were night, and then lie down in a darkened room and sleep for half an hour—or even less. She will arise refreshed and invigorated. One whole day out of 10 spent in absolute rest is a great restorer of strength, beauty and usefulness.

A Novel Idea.

At a recent luncheon a small white satin bag was at each place, together with the customary place card. The guests were requested not to open the bags until a given signal, when the "cat came out of the bag." Each bag contained a tiny little china kitten with a cord tied to its neck reading: "Mary Robinson Jones announces her engagement to Robert John Smith." The cat was literally out of the bag.

A mental scrap-basket is a great help; eliminate from your mind all things that merely litter it with worries and life will become lighter and brighter.

Some people are afraid they will not receive credit for their virtue unless they talk about it.

of Canada is neither feared nor anticipated, it became known that the Dominion government is exercising the greatest precaution against any possible raid on the part of German sympathizers across the Niagara river. Thirty militiamen are on duty constantly at Fort Erie, directly opposite Buffalo, and the whole river front from there to Niagara Falls and Queenstown is patrolled night and day by about 600 members of the newly formed home guard.

The views of William Howard Taft that this country could not invoke the Monroe doctrine to prevent Germany attacking Canada has not caused any comment on the part of the Canadian papers.

It is explained that the river patrol is to prevent the possibility of another raid similar to that of the Perlin raid. The patrol was strengthened after Major General Hughes, minister of militia and defense, had made a visit to the territory.

Predicts Early German Withdrawal.

New York, Nov. 30.—Assertion that the Germans would be out of Belgium within six months was made by Antoine Van Den Plas of Brussels, whose automobile factory in the Belgian capital was seized by the Kaiser's troops and is now being used to manufacture trucks for the invading army. Mr. Van Den Plas was one of the fifty-nine passengers arriving here on board the Minnehaha of the American transport line from London.

Mr. Van Den Plas employed 800 men in his automobile factory until Sept. 24, when he stepped out of it for the last time, hastening from the beleaguered city as the German troops entered. In a broken down old carriage, drawn by two decrepit horses, he, with his wife and son George and five pieces of baggage, drove from Brussels to Lierre on the Holland frontier. He said that of the 5,000 houses of Lierre only twenty-five remained intact. From Holland he made his way to London.

Mr. Van Den Plas expects to remain in New York eighteen months. He based his prediction about the Germans remaining in Belgium only six months on the fact that there is nothing for the invaders to live on in the despoiled little kingdom excepting three cities—Brussels, Antwerp and Bruges. He declared that the Germans always loot Belgian houses of wine, after which the atrocities begin.

PASSING OF MACADAM ROADS.

New York state has been reconstructing with brick pavement its country roads bearing heavy traffic. This is a final judgment that macadam has outlived its usefulness as a country road material where traffic is dense. The change is due largely to the coming of the automobile with its raveling effect upon the macadam highways, and the tremendous loads which try foundations.

For two miles of road near Albany New York is going to spend $51,000 for brick pavement. It is to be laid just as a brick city pavement would be laid, with a six-inch concrete foundation. Similar road improvements are going forward in the neighborhood of Cleveland, Ohio. It means that the day of paving highways outside the cities with material that will make a permanent roadway, has arrived.

This will bring up important new questions of financing road work. The first cost of such work is enormous and the maintenance charge is necessarily larger than upon dirt roads. Pennsylvania has already reached a point where financial considerations are halting its big good roads program. Farming property is not able to stand assessments for city paving on country highways. If that sort of thing is to be done on any considerable scale, some new means of spreading improvement assessments must be found. Probably the interested cities to which the highways lead will have to take a hand in supplying the funds.—St. Paul Dispatch.

RUSSIA'S VODKA SURPLUS.

Only listen to this—Russia has 20,000,000 gallons of vodka, proofing 95 per cent alcohol, which she would like to exchange for shooting irons, armored motor cars, steel rails, army tents, army blankets, or, probably, for canned music. The Russian soldiers, it is said, are even more insistent in the demand for music than are the Germans, and a supply of records that will grind out "A Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight," or some other inspiring air can easily be exchanged for a fair counterpart in vodka. And let us say that vodka, according to the reports that have floated across from the realm of Muscovy, is a high wine of such potent energy that our own much vaunted greased lightning brands seem like soda water in comparison.

It is reckoned that it has an exchange value equivalent to at least $20,000,000 in gold, and, well, Russia would just like to find an outside market for this high-power fluid. If only two or three million gallons of it could be surreptitiously served out to the German army along the Carpathian slope, about four hours in advance of a Russian charge, perhaps, the on-to-Berlin movement would be thereby expedited.—Baltimore American.

JUST A LUCKY MILLIONAIRE.

It is not the size of the late Anthony N. Brady's estate that will be wondered at. The public has been so overfed with fat figures that a hundred million is the least it expects of a multimillionaire and Mr. Brady's appraisers find only seventy-seven. What must seem incredible, suspicious and even derogatory to a business judgment rated among the keenest is that the sum represented by automobiles is only $1400. A fortune of $77,000,000 and only a beggarly $1400 in "cars!" It is marvelous that a man so careless of the prime necessary of Americans should ever have accumulated a fortune. Why we all know plenty of men with fortunes from $750 to $770 who would be ashamed of not having more than $1400 worth of devil wagons.

Evidently Mr. Brady must have been merely lucky. He lacked appreciation of remunerative investment.—N. Y. Sun.

A GREAT VICTORY.

More complete reports are now coming in regarding the terrific battle waged Thursday between the "Allies" and the United Army of Turkey. Goose, Duck, Mince Pie and Cranberry Sauce, tells an exchange. The struggle raged all day and decisive results were reached by night, although the engagement is expected to be carried on until the first of next week, or until the united armies are in the soup. The slaughter was terrific on the side of the United Armies, the Mince Pie regiment being entirely wiped out by the Boy Scouts. Casualties on the side of the Allies were insignificant, as far as could be learned from the official censor. They consisted mostly of stomach-aches and nightmares, but all of the wounded are on the rapid road to recovery, so they say.

FAKERS GOT BUMPED.

The Associated Press put up a job on some of the alleged news gathering agencies in New York, including the New York News Bureau, the International News Service, the Central News of America and other minor organizations, and caught them in a cold-blooded theft of war news. They swallowed the fake news it sent out about the sinking of a Russian dreadnaught, hook, line and sinker, and printed it as a fact. It was a tough one on the fakers.

NO IMPROVEMENT IN MEXICO.

Conditions in Mexico are no better than they were when President Wilson sent our troops into Vera Cruz. We lost seventeen American boys to the cause and finally have pulled out without improving matters. If conditions were bad enough to demand our occupation of Vera Cruz, they are bad enough for us to stay there, for they are no better.

"MAGNIFICENT, BUT NOT WAR."

"The Panama Canal has cost $353,000,000—ten days' cost of the great war," says the New York World. Whether the statement of the daily cost of the war is correct or not the fact remains that whatever the cost, it is paid for the destruction of life and property, while the cost of the canal is invested in a work that gives service to mankind.—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

Dixon can stay home for a night or two now that there is a recess from fairs. Without fairs and movies, life would be less complex and strenuous in the country.

Do you know, Mr. Advertiser, that an advertisement is known by the company it is in?

WORTH MONEY.

Folks often say of Jasper Hunks, "That man is worth a million plunks." Which means he has a mighty hoard in some sly place of safety stored. His value, though, to fellow gents, would not amount to fifty cents. He never helped a human soul since he acquired his bulging roll; he never lets a dime get loose, on any pretext or excuse, unless he knows that it will earn another dime, and then return. He judges all men by their wads; the millionaires rank with the gods, and men who have no pile of kale to Jasper seem both cheap and stale. He kicks at every forward move; he hates to see the town improve, because he fears that better times may tax him for his sacred dimes. He never thinks of aught but cash; all other things to him seem trash; the only books he reads are those which tell of how a fortune grows; the only pictures which appeal to his old heart of rusty steel are those which on banknotes are seen—whichever decorate the good long green. He's worth a million, so they say. Ods bodikins! Alackaday! I wouldn't give ten cents a throw for fifty Jaspers in a row!

Only Globe Gets Message. The short bulletin wire to the Globe office was detached from the circuit which included the other New York evening newspapers, members of the Associated Press, so that the message as anticipated, the dispatch instantly appeared upon the ticker, and not long after was printed in the papers served by other news agencies in different parts of the country.

As soon as this was done and before it appeared in any issue of the Globe, a notice to "kill" was sent out, and the telegram, therefore, at 20 time reached the public as from the Associated Press.

Fliba Cryptic Word.

The word Fliba was cryptic. Substituting for the initial consonant the consonant following it in the alphabet and for the two vowels the vowels following in the alphabet, F L I B A became G L O B E. Thus the culprits were left no chance for escape.

The telegram was identified beyond question, and its source made plain. The telegraph operator was arrested and made a full confession. He was arraigned before Magistrate T. B. House and held in $5,000 bail for a hearing on Dec. 10.

N. Y. News Bureau Watched.

In order to observe the methods of the New York News Bureau a trusted Pinkerton operator was employed and established himself as an investment banker, "Mr. R. D. Smith," at an office at 366 Broadway. He fitted his office carefully with a safe and appropriate furniture and installed one of the New York News Bureau tickers.

Employees of the Associated Press were assigned to watch the ticker with great care and to time each dispatch. During a period covering several weeks it was observed that the dispatches of the Associated Press were constantly repeated upon the ticker within five minutes after they were sent out by the Associated Press. The New York News Bureau is not a member of the Associated Press and not entitled to its service.

FADS IN DRESS.

Every Season Brings a New Crop to Which Some Rush, Others Scorn.

Every season one sees some little dress fad crop up which is rushed into thoughtlessly by many, and scorned quite as thoughtlessly by others, though they profess to scorn it because the mob has adopted it.

But some dress fads are quite worth while, and should be thoughtfully considered.

Hat pins have really become a fad. A woman is apt to number her hat pins now by the dozen. But the carefully chosen hat pin has decided trimming value and it pays to indulge in this fad if one go about it warily and select hat pins that will be a beauty spot in the hat not for the day merely, but for all time.

The linen or lace coat collar is a fad that has decided value. With these one may give a frosh, pretty touch to ones tailored suit. Particularly is it an inexpensive way to freshen an old suit, the touch of crisp snowy white about the neck luring the eye with its charm away from the noticeable age of the suit. Linen in soft delicate colors with hand scalloped edge is very becoming and smart.

Handy pins are another little dress fad that can prove decidedly worth while. They usually overflow in a woman's trinket box. If they are chosen carefully, if they have character, they can add a telling note to the dress by chiming in harmoniously with the color scheme or giving an artistic accent of contrast.

The popular long scarf is another dress fad that can become an article of grace in a clever woman's hands. One is well worth owning.

So also is the long automobile veil, though many who never hope to own an automobile wear it because it is fashionable when draped across enormous hats. The wise woman knows it is almost indispensable for

steamer wear, for the sea-shore, for mountain use.

It is worth while to study the dress fads that drop up. They may be merely fads that die in a night, with neither artistic nor practical value. Again they may have in them an idea that helps to some most useful and economical aid to dress.

The fad of a moment may make a thing fashionable. The wise woman will see if it has utilitarian value as well. If it has, let her seize upon it and make the most of her opportunity to bend fashion to her service.

New Dutch Collar.

The very newest thing in Dutch collars is one of net embroidered with colored silk and metal thread in an oriental design. This collar comes in tow shapes—one the regular Dutch model and another with an extension at each front end like an attached tab. The colors of this collar are rich enough of black or colored satin or velvet.

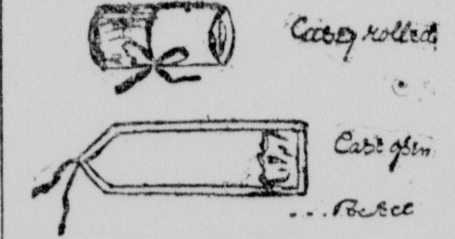

A collar of this sort is frequently built into a waist in yoke effect, closed at the back. Another collar can be cut into cuffs to match, and there you have all the trimming needed for, say, a black satin blouse. It is an idea worth trying.—New York Press.

Pillows and Mattresses.

To preserve the cleanliness of your pillows, make them covers of cheap calico to be sewn on over the ticking. These calico covers, being protected in their turn by the linen pillow slips, will only need washing about once in three or four months, and they will keep the pillows clean a very long time. Mattresses should be protected in the same way, or at any rate with strips of calico about half a yard wide sewn round the edges.

Jewel Case for Traveller.

A pocket at one end is useful for holding small articles. The entire cost of this case need not exceed 50 cents—30 cents for the wide ribbon, 10 cents for the narrow, and 10 cents for the flannel. It is excellent for holding a man's scarf pins.

It can be made of leather if preferred or of linen which may be embroidered.

power and popularity, but to sacrifice, service and suffering. The destiny of the church is the most glorious of any supernatural or redemption body in all the plans of God. It is destined to share his glory as the bride of the Lamb, to sit with Him on the throne, and to be with Him and God the Father, the light and glory of the new Jerusalem.

The subject of the evening discourse was "Except the Lord Build the House They Labor in Vain That Build It." This was applied to the building of the human life and body for a temple of the Holy Spirit. The building is all in vain except God take control. The foundation must be Christ Jesus the Rock, or the building goes to wreck. Men and women build without God, and the great Inspector finds, instead of temples pest houses, cess-pools, tango and turkey trot whirligigs, human beer kegs and whisky jugs, and tobacco factories, human clothes racks, fashion plates. All of this goes down and is rejected of God as unfit material for the construction of a temple of God.

NEW RICHMOND IN MEXICO FIELD

General Gonzales Proclaims Himself Provisional President.

General Villa Dickers With Zapata—Northern Ex-Bandit Says He Is Willing Southern Prototype's Forces Shall Control Mexico City if They Will Keep Order.

Washington, Nov. 30.—A new aspirant for presidential honors in Mexico
is added to the list with the receipt of advice here that General Pablo Gonzales, one of Carranza's divisional chiefs, has proclaimed himself provisional president of Mexico and has named a cabinet.

This report received officially here
comes from Queretaro where General Gutierrez, the Aguas Calientes convention's choice for president, has established himself. According to this information General Gonzales is at Pachuca with his forces, said to number about 8,000 men. Pachuca is north of Mexico City about fifty miles distant.

He Can Upset Plans.

Gonzales recently withdrew from Queretaro in the face of the advance of Villa and his troops and his whereabouts have for some time been more or less of a mystery. The mystery is now solved, it is believed, with the announcement that he has proclaimed himself provisional president. While it is doubted if he will attempt to take Mexico City at present it is admitted that General Gonzales with his present force can make himself a most disturbing factor in the situation and perhaps frustrate all the plans of either Villa, Zapata or Carranza so long as he holds his present strong position.

Villa Says Zapata Must Behave.
According to other state department advice negotiations are under way between the convention leaders and Zapata for a joint entry into Mexico City. Villa is reported to have declared that he is fully prepared to cooperate with Zapata and will not seek to take away from his forces the control of Mexico City as long as the Zapata forces preserve good order and prevent executions of civilians and looting of property in the city. Should the Zapatistas fail to preserve good order in Mexico City, however, he is declared as having said, that he would not hesitate to advance on the capital with all his available forces and take it away from them.

Carranza Threatens Tampico.
Further trouble is threatened at Tampico, according to advice received here, and it is expected that a repetition of the conditions existing when Huerta held the city against the attacks of constitutionalists is about to ensue. General Caballero, supposed to be holding Tampico under General Pablo Gonzales, has informed General Gutierrez of his adherence to the convention, thus indicating that Tampico merely awaited the arrival of the convention forces to take possession of it.

Carranza, on the other hand, is attempting to gain control of Tampico
and according to authoritative advice
from Vera Cruz, is sending 2,000 troops from there to Tampico to take the city.

Arbitrator Overruled in Chicago and Western Indiana Case.

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 30.—The award of $525,000 made in favor of the Chicago and Western Indiana railroad and against John C. Fetzner by E. C.
Field, as arbitrator, four years ago,
was set aside in the superior court
by Judge Sullivan here.

The arbitrator held that Fetzner had not accounted for sums handled by him as an agent of the railroad in the purchase of real estate and in other ways. The award was set aside because the court found that Field
had expressed an opinion in the case
before he was selected as arbitrator, because of the acceptance of evidence unknown to the defendant, and because Judge Field acted on the assumption that $275,000 had been paid for certain property by Fetzner when the arbitrator had before him evidence that the amount paid was $460,- 000.

Steven Bendare Caught Trying to Go to Frisco on Lone Simoleon.

Joliet, Ill., Nov. 30.—When Mrs.
Stephen Bendare, twenty-two years old and pretty, came home recently with her four year old son she found her husband gone. John Wandler, who boarded at the same house, was waiting for her. "Come here and kiss me," said John. "You're mine Steve was hard up and I bought you for $1."

Mrs. Steve was so dazed that she let John kiss her once or twice, but when he told her to hurry up dinner
she ran to a police station. Steve was found trying to buy a ticket to San Francisco for $1.

In the Joliet police court Steve said that he loved his wife, but needed
the money. The judge sent Bendare to the county jail for thirty days. John got his dollar back.

Residents of Staunton, Ill., Ordered to Stop Use.

Staunton, Ill., Nov. 30.—Staunton, a city of 6,000 persons, is confronted with a serious shortage of water. A meeting was held at the office of Attorney Truman A. Snell, when prominent residents discussed conditions.
It is expected the Illinois public utilities commission will be asked to assist.

Water for all purposes in the city is taken from a large reservoir, which is nearly dried up. Coal mines and owners of the ice plant are preparing to ship in water to continue operations. During the last few months water has been hauled in railroad cars to the coal mines.

Notices have been issued for everybody to quit using water from the mains.

POLITICS BEATS BOND ISSUE

Woman, Aged Eighty-nine, Casts Her
First Vote at Alton, Ill., Election.

Titon, Ill., Nov. 30.—Mrs. Christina Straube, eighty-nine years old, cast
her first vote at the election in Alton.
She was opposed to the proposition to issue $100,000 worth of municipal bonds and walked to the polls with her son, Otto Straube, to register her disapproval. She is said to have been the oldest person to vote.

Women served as election officers for the first time. The experiment proved satisfactory. The bond issue was defeated largely owing to opposition to its sponsor, Mayor Faltich.
Most of the women voted against it.

New Law in New Jersey Forbids Its Use in Public Places.

Want a drink? Then, if you are in New Jersey, produce your cup or else
get over the State line. The new law, which says that the public drinking
cup must go is being enforced.

The price of drinking water, however, is not prohibitive. One cent will provide you with a cup. In the waiting rooms of every railroad terminal in the State, and beside the ice cooler in smaller stations along the line, you will notice a slot-machine in which are displayed behind the glass a pile of paper cups, inverted and tucked into one another, like a long row of thimbles. The slot machine bears the following legend:

"Insert cent. Pull handle down. Take cup before releasing handle."

If you do this you get a dainty cup of paraffined paper, which is impervious to water, and without a handle.
This cup you hold under the spigot
at the drinking fount and get your drink. After drinking, if you are careless and don't think much about germs, you toss the cup carelessly on the stand, and leave it for the next careless person to use, or for the official custodian of the waiting room to remove. If you really obey the spirit of the law as well as the letter,
you drop the cup into a kind of cage,
suggestive of a corncrib on the farm,
which is built up under the slot machine to serve as a waste basket for the cups. If you have the children with you, they will probably insist upon taking their cups home to be used at picnics.

To Secure Slenderness.

If you are taking on flesh at a rate that dismays you and will faithfully follow this advice you can secure stylish slenderness. I am glad to say you will not find my directions difficult to follow, for I do not believe in starving or violent exercise to avoid obesity. Just get four ounces of paraffin from your druggist, dissolve it in 1 1/2 pints hot water, and take a teaspoonful of this harmless fat dissolver before each meal. Weigh yourself at the end of each week for four weeks and you will be delighted with the result. You will be lighter in spirit as well as body, for paraffin benefits the general health.—Philadelphia Record.

Too Much Salt.

The salt which so many cooks use to cover up the lack of natural flavor
in food, and which persons with perverted tastes add to already oversalted dishes, is said to be responsible in large measure for not a few of the ills to which flesh is heir in the twentieth century. Among these are enumerated gout and rheumatism,
and, worst of all, a bad complexion.
But by salt is not meant salts. These latter play an important part, dieti-tians say, in keeping the blood pure and correcting errors in diet, but usually they are poured down the kitchen sink in the water vegetables are boiled in, instead of being placed in the alimentary canal.

An Economical Wash.

A woman who cannot afford costly toilet preparations may soften and whiten her skin by washing it well with white cornmeal mixed to a soft paste with sour milk. Use as one would soap, being careful not to get it into the eyes, and then rinse with lukewarm water. A teaspoonful of grated horseradish might be added to this in case of tan.

Let no man prate against graft
who steals the slightest thing from another—it is merely envy that moves him to utterance.

In America the children are born
with the instinct of the baseball fan.
Every one begins life alike—it's the finish that tells the story.

Schuler Speaks.

Commissioner Schuler, regarding the petition signed by Dixon men for the retaining of Cunningham on the force, said that a great many men
signed the petition without knowing what they were signing and that a half dozen had been to him to have their names taken off. He said that it was always easy to get any kind of a petition signed and that men displayed very little care in signing
such papers. Mr. Schuler said that Dixon men should be warned to use more intelligence in signing petitions.

Ill., on a charge of vagrancy pending
developments in the murder case here. The police believe that he got into Aurora on a freight train from Chicago just before the hour of the murder, instead of three hours later,
at 11 o'clock, as he says.

Queen Alexandra's Favorite Roses.

The Queen of England's favorite rose is one of the old time sorts known as Hermosa, a lovely free flowering pink rose, which yields a rich harvest of beautiful fragrant blossoms. So fond is the Queen of this rose that she has it to be grown by thousands in huge borders near her favorite dailies, as well as in the gardens surrounding her home.

WILSON IN NEW COLORADO MOVE

Federal Commission Is Appointed to Act on Strike.

President Issues Statement Regretting That Operators Refused to Accept His First Plan of Mediation—
He Can Not See His Way Clear to Remove Troops.

Washington, Nov. 30.—President Wilson has named a commission of three composed of Seth Low of New York, Charles W. Mills of Philadelphia and Patrick Gilday of Clearfield, Pa., a miner, to deal with the Colorado coal strike. The announcement of the appointment of the commission was accompanied by a statement from the president in which he expressed disappointment that the mine operators had rejected his proposals heretofore made for the settlement of the strike.

In his statement the president says:
"The strike of the miners in Colorado which has now lasted for twelve months has attracted the attention of the whole country and has been accompanied by many distressing and tragic circumstances."

President Wilson then briefly reviews the efforts that have been made for an adjustment of the trouble and says he thinks the country regrets that the mine operators refused to have the difference referred to a commission appointed by the president
during a temporary truce.

Can't Withdraw Troops.

"Merely to withdraw the federal troops," the statement continues,
"and leave the situation to clear and settle itself would seem to me to be doing something less than any duty after all that has occurred. I have therefore determined to appoint the commission contemplated in the plan of temporary settlement notwithstanding the rejection of that plan by the mine operators and thus at least to create the instrumentality by which like troubles and disputes may be amicably and honorably settled in the future, in the hope, the very earnest
and sincere hope, that both parties may see it to be not merely to their own best interest but also a duty
which they owe to the communities
they serve and to the nation itself to make use of this instrumentality of peace and render strife of the kind which has threatened the order and prosperity of the great state of Colorado a thing of the past, impossible of repetition so long as everything that is done is done in good temper and with the genuine purpose to do justice and observe every public as well as every private obligation."

Guided by Roosevelt Precedent.

In naming the commission to deal with the Colorado strike situation President Wilson is guided by the precedent established by President Roosevelt in the Pennsylvania coal strike case some years ago.

Misses Caroline Beck and Lillian Judge have returned from a visit in DeKalb.

WHOLE CITY MOURNS FOR DR. JAMES CAMP

AT STANDSTILL DURING HIS FUNERAL.

The Brainerd (Minn.) Daily Dispatch of last Friday says of the funeral of Dr. James L. Camp the former Dixonite who passed away there
last week:

A city in mourning, with business places closed during the hours of the funeral, Brainerd did homage to the memory of the late James L. Camp
this afternoon.

The funeral took place at 3 o'- clock from the residence of C. E.
Peabody an old friend of the doctor and with whom he had made his home for many years. Services were conducted by Rev. G. P. Sheridan, pastor of the First Congregational church, assisted by Rev. W. J.
Lowrie, pastor of the First Presbyterian church. The casket was litterally covered with flowers. The doctors of Brainerd gave a mass of roses, carnations and lilies of the valley which covered the casket.
There were large set pieces from the Elks lodge, from the Workmen lodge and other orders. Tributes of flowers came from all sections of the northwest.

At the request of Mayor R. A.
Henning business houses in general closed in the city during the hours of the funeral. The district court adjourned its afternoon session to the evening.

The State Board of Control drew resolutions on the death of Dr.
Camp, member of the advisory commission for the Walker sanatorium.
The Brainerd Chamber of Commerce
physicians and surgeons of the city, and the Booster club adopted resolutions of condolence.

To the rich and poor, to people of all stations, Dr. Camp was a doctor who never refused to answer a call. He was an honor to his profession, a man who made friends and kept them. There was not a dry eye in the large compoase who listened to the funeral sermons which praised him for his many qualities, his quiet devotion to duty and his unassuming charity.

Fumigating Combs.

How often do we hear some person say that it is impossible to keep bees in their locality on account of the wax moth, claiming that a good share of the bees throughout the country are annually destroyed in this manner. If the truth was known, however, ninety-nine per cent. of all the colonies so destroyed are either queenless or have swarmed themselves to death and are too depopulated to protect their hives, the consequences being that the moths get the upper hand. If a colony is in good condition there need be no worrying over wax moths, even though the bees are of the common German strain.

April and the following warm months is the time when this insect is most in evidence. The larvae make a rapid growth feeding upon the grains of pollen and other ingredients found in old combs, for about twenty-one days, they then spin cocoons where a transformation takes place and they emerge shortly as adult moths.

Retain Competent Road Officials. It is asserted that one of the principal causes for the poor construction of roads is that the tenure of office of highway commissioners is uncertain, and that in most cases the office goes to the candidate who can secure the most votes. Politics, as we have often said, should in no wise be a factor when it comes to building roads or paving streets.

Improved road building is a new art, and a competent road builder, like a poet, is born, not made; and when his worth has been proved he should be kept in the office as long as he is efficient and keeps up with the march of progress in his line of work. So long as the office of highway commissioner is elective, the voters of a township should see that the best man is put in the office, and then re-elected. Much has lately been said in regard to making the office of highway commissioner appointive and strictly under civil service rules. Much can be said in favor of this plan, but until laws are changed, competent officials should be retained.

Destroy the Moths.

While moths do not destroy good colonies, one may wish to keep empty combs from one season to another and these must be watched or they may be destroyed by moths. At the first appearance of moth worms, such combs should be at once fumigated with bisulphite of carbon. If you have only a few combs place them in a barrel and set a saucer containing about ten or fifteen cents worth of carbon bisulphite on top, covering all with a piece of old carpet. The carbon bisulphite soon evaporates and being heavier than air, settles down through the combs. Comb honey when infested with wax worms can also be similarly treated. The only precaution necessary is to not work near a fire, as the stuff is highly inflammable.

BRITISH FOREIGN MINISTER ON WEEK-END OUTING.

Sir Edward Grey, British foreign minister, who was perhaps the most prominent figure in European politics outside of Germany just before the war began, now has time to rest. Ministers of war and the navy have taken up the work he tried to prevent. This photograph shows him at the country home of his cousin, Earl Grey, for a week-end rest.

Feeding Work Horses.

The general rule is that the work horses during the busy season should receive two pounds of feed for each 100 pounds of live weight, the heaviest feeding being at night. But one must not forget that the individual characteristics of the animal must be considered in determining the proper ration.

SECOND KILLING MAY REVEAL BAF SLAYERGang Slays Supposed Weak
kneed Accomplice.

New York, Nov. 30.—Through the murder of William Doyle, known to his associates as "Little Patsy," who came to his death while in a saloon
at the northeast corner of Eighth avenue and Forty-first street, detectives believe they will soon be able to find a clue that will lead to the arrest of the murderer of Barnett Baff, wealthy poultry dealer, who was slain while on his way home from West Washington market several days
ago.

"Little Patsy," a familiar figure in the neighborhood, was suspected by bandmen of being faint of heart, the police say. Fearing that in his weakness, owing to the determined efforts of the detectives to run down the murderer of Baff, Doyle might betray his companions, the police say that the bandmen determined to forestall any revelations that he might make by killing him.

The police working on the Baf-murder case are bending their energies to clues centering around the automobile in which the poultry dealer's assassins escaped. Two men who had information in the Rosenthal murder case have been in conference with Walter R. Denel, assistant district attorney. What they discussed is held in secrecy by the prosecutor's office. One of the men is known as a "squealer," and he figured prominently in the case against Lieutenant Charles Becker. The movements of the two men in the criminal courts building and while on their way to and from the district attorney's office were guarded carefully.

In searching out other clues one detective was sent to Philadelphia.

MRS. SIEGEL GETS DIVORCE

Department Store Head's Wife Names
Three Women.

New York, Nov. 30.—Following three brief and secret hearings Supreme Court Referee Maurice Delches secretly filed his report in the county clerk's office recommending that a decree of absolute divorce be granted
Mrs. Marie Vaughn Siegel from Henry Siegel, the convicted department store head and banker. While Siegel was in court up state his counsel, Lemuel
E. Quigg, was present at the referee's hearing here and contested every step of the divorce proceedings.

Mrs. Siegel named three co-respondents—a Mrs. Smith, a Mrs. Eddy and an unidentified woman; but it could not be learned today which one of the three figured in the hearings.

Galena Gas Plant Blows Up.

Galena, Ill., Nov. 30.—The gas plant owned by the Interstate Public Service company was destroyed by an explosion and fire in the purifying room. The explosion blew the brick walls down. The shock was felt over the entire town.

Say Austrians Flee Eastern Hungary.

Rome, Nov. 30.—Dispatches from Vienna say that the Austrians have evacuated Czernowitz and are preparing to evacuate eastern Hungary.
They are removing municipal archives
and all valuables and the inhabitants are fleeing to Buda Pest.

Turkey Wants Papal Envoy.

Rome, Nov. 30.—It is rumored that the sultan will accredit an envoy to the pope with the object of insuring
the presence of a Turkish diplomat here in case Italy should intervene in favor of the allies.

IS HELD FOR DEATH OF WIFE

John Pritchard of Murphysboro Must Face Grand Jury.

Murphysboro, Ill., Nov. 30.—John S.
Pritchard is held for grand jury action on the recommendation of a car-oner's jury that completed an investigation of the death of his wife, Mrs.
Eliza Pritchard, whose body was found weighted down in the Big Mud dy river near here two weeks ago.
The verdict of the coroner's jury was that Mrs. Pritchard met death by strangulation, smothering, drowning or criminal operation. The body was twice exhumed before finally identified.

BURDENS LIFTED

FROM DIXON BACKS—RELIEF IS PROVED BY LATE OF TIME.

Backache is a heavy burden;
Nervousness, dizziness, headache
Rheumatic pain; urinary ills;
All wear one out.

Often effects of kidney weakness.
No use to cure the symptoms.
Relief is but temporary if the cause remains.

If it's the kidneys, cure the cause.
Doan's Kidney Pills are for kidney ills.

Read about your neighbors case.
Here's Dixon testimony.

The kind that can be investigated.
J. C. Kirkham, 11- E. Fourth St., Dixon, says: "I had been suffering from pain across my back for a long time, but didn't think it was caused by weak kidneys. Finally, a friend advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills and I got a box at Leake Bros.
drug store. It didn't take them long to remove the trouble. The cure has been permanent. All I said about Doan's Kidney Pills when I endorsed them before, holds good."

Price 50c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Kirkham had. Foster-

FARM AT PUBLIC SALE.

The undersigned having met with a severe accident and unable to carry on farming, I will offer my farm of 116 86-100 acres at public sale on Monday, Dec. 21, 1914

At 2 p. m. at premises. This farm was formerly owned by E. C. Parsons and is located adjoining and south of the City of Dixon, Lee County, Illinois, about 80 rods from the Chicago & Northwestern railway depot, a part of N. W. 1/4 Section 8, Town 21 E., Range 9. Improvements: 7 room house, large barn room for 40 head stock and 100 tons of hay; granary, hog house, chicken house, milk house, good well, windmill and tanks, land slightly rolling but under good state of cultivation. As this farm adjoins city limits the advantages of good schools and churches, grain and stock markets are all that one can ask for. The location is fine and anyone wishing a small farm, it will pay you to investigate this one and attend the sale.

TERMS: 10 per cent cash on day of sale, 40 per cent March 1, 1915. Mortgage back at 6 per cent on balance due in three years. Possession March 1, 1915, when deed will be given and abstract showing merchantable title. For further information see the auctioneer.

GERMAN POSITIONS TAKEN, SAYS PARIS

Official Statement Claims Several New Successes.

Paris, Nov. 30.—The afternoon's war office statement says:

"On Nov. 29 (Sunday) the enemy's cannonading was more active but carried on chiefly by seventy-seven millimetre pieces; his heavy artillery has made itself felt very little. Under these conditions the artillery struggle has turned particularly to our advantage.

"In Belgium our infantry captured several supporting positions to the north and to the south of Ypres. In the country to the north of Arras one of the enemy's attacks, undertaken by nearly three regiments, has definitely failed after several counter attacks carried out in all directions.

"Between the Somme and Chaulnes we have made perceptible progress. In the neighborhood of the village of Fay our troops came into immediate contact with the wire entanglements of the defense.

"In the region of the Aisne between Vailly and Berry-au-Bac a group of machine guns and a foundation for thirty centimetre pieces were destroyed by our shells, one of which caused an explosion in one of the enemy's batteries.

"In the Vosges three counter attacks undertaken by the Germans for the purpose of recapturing ground previously taken by us in the Ban-De-Sapt region were successively repulsed."

REPULSE COUNTER ATTACKS

Berlin's War Statement Reads Like One Issued From Paris.

Berlin, Nov. 30.—(Via London.)—The following official report was given out at army headquarters: "This afternoon there is nothing to report from the western army. Yesterday the attacks of the enemy in the region to the southeast of Ypres and to the west of Lens failed. In the east the situation on the right bank of the Vistula remains unchanged. Russian advances in the neighborhood of Lodz were checked and were followed by successful counter attacks by our troops. There is nothing of importance to report in regard to southern Poland."

An Annual Gift.

Although the Rev. Mr. Carter knew that the senior deacon of his new church was a thrifty New Englander, he was not entirely prepared for some of the evidences of Deacon Getchell's peculiar thrift. "I don't know as I favor your exchanging with the Harborville minister more than once in the year," said the deacon shaking his head at Mr. Carter's suggestion of a second exchange.

"I thought you all enjoyed his preaching," said the minister, with surprise, "I had understood so." "That's not the point," and the deacon's chin took on the look so familiar to his family and friends. "The point is that we pay five dollars and twenty-five cents more a Sunday for our pulpit than they do over to Harborville. So when you go over there it's just the same as making the Harborville church a present of that sum, and what I'm saying is that once a season's enough for us to contribute to their support."

Charity.

The broken hearts, the burning tears, The shuffling gait, the shifting eyes, Distressing pains and wild the fears— Oh, heartrending the piercing cries Of suffering poor remind all ye Of charity, sweet charity.

Now note the grief-bent, ailing forms Of pilgrims weak with hopes adrift— Their hair streaked gray, the lost in storms— To Heaven they their faces lift! Ye who are strong and good will see Sweet charity, sweet charity.

No battles fought bring greater fame, No higher glory win brave souls Than earning, ah, enduring name Upon the noble-hearted scrolls. Than aid the poor and lift the free To charity, sweet charity.

POETRY WORTH READING

On the "Congressional Record." The hour for going to press was near. The forms awaited the make-up. The managing editor dropped a tear And longed for a good old shake-up.

"Newspaper life is hard," said he, "When it comes to running a sheet

That hasn't a notion of policy, Nor even a ten-line beat. Never a line of telegraph, Never a stick of 'mis,' Never a cub to get the gaff— Never a sheet like this!"

The editor yelled for a copy boy, But never a boy came nigh. He looked for a copy-desk slave to annoy,

And mournfully heaved a sigh. "We haven't a wedding, a smash-up, a crime,

Railroads, markets or weather, We're scooped on politics every time, And our ads, are light as a feather.

Never a line of local news, Never a stick of State, Never a change of type to use— Pity the editor's fate!"

He gnashed his teeth in impotent rage And groaned in his deep dejection, "We haven't a book or a theater page,

We haven't a sporting section; A half-tone cut, a Sunday story, A woman's page or an office cat.

How can a journalist hope for glory Running a sheet like that? Never a sparkling paragraph, Never a bit of verse, Never a devil, never a staff— Could editor's lot be worse?" —Troy Reporter.

To Father Time.

Backward, turn backward, O Time, in thy flight! Give us an autoless day and a night, Give us a "yellow" sans headlines to scan, A rustless skirt, and a hustleless man, A babe teddy-bearless, a microbeless kiss, A fistie fight fakeless, a straight-frontless miss, A gigglesque schoolgirl, and—better than that!— A summer-clad college man wearing a hat!

I know, Father Time, that I'm asking too much, But turn to a day ere a dinner was lunch. Swing back to an age perovideless for hair— An aeon ere "rats" made their rendezvous there— An old-fashioned breakfast without Shredded Hay, A season when farmers went wineless a day, A burgh moving-pictureless — ah, what a treat! A gumless-girl town and a trolleyless street; I'm asking too much, but I pray, Daddy Time, For days when a song had both substance and rhyme! —The Bohemian.

Before the Rain.

Clouds are dusky gray and still, Nature's waiting for the rain; Birds have ceased their song until They can feel the sun again. Trees are waiting, patient too, Hushed and silent as they stand, Till the breeze comes sailing through Fresh'ning all the weary land.

Water's rippling like a song Where the willows bend above, Gently coaxing it along With a tender mother-love. The long grasses tilt and sway To the music's mystic flow In a dance of elfish play Mirrored in the stream below.

Sentinel poplars, straight and tall, Upward turn their shining leaves And the tree-toads scrape and call In a tune that oddly grieves. There's a brooding tenderness That's so sweet it starts a pain Yearning through and through your best, Then—here comes the driving rain. —Grace G. Bostwick, in Everybody's.

Are Pushing Fighting in Belgium.

WAR SUMMARY.

(Associated Press.)
Germany today acknowledges that
the Russian Northern army has pen-
etrated their lines in east Prussia
and are now about twenty miles
west of the German border.

GERMANS RETREAT.

Semi-official reports from Petro-
grad say that the Germans are re-
treating in disorder on the Prussian
battle front while the great battle in Russian Poland continues today with
out any decisive results.

A French official statement says
that in Belgium the allies are now
on the offensive.

Today's report from Hungary
places the Austro-Hungarian casualties at 900,000 men and 19,000 officers.

SIEGE OF CRACOW STARTED BY RUSSIANS.

Milan, Nov. 30.—The siege of Cra-
covie has begun. The Russians are bombarding the city with heavy
siege guns.

Buenos Ayres, Nov. 30.—It is reported from Montevideo that a British squadron, composed of ten vessels,

has been sighted off Cape Polonio
steaming west southward. It is understood that other British vessels
are concentrating near the entrance
to Magellan.

The government has sent a cruiser

with orders to prevent a battle with Uruguayan waters.
The whereabouts of the German
squadron is not known.

Paris, Nov. 30.—M. Pichon, former
foreign minister, in an editorial in the Petit Journal, returns to his advocacy
of Japanese participation in the European campaign. He says:

"The moment of decisive actions
approaches. The allies must employ
all their forces to chase the Germans
from France and Belgium and rid the
world of the barbarians who menace
civilization. Japan is officially an ally of England, has agreements with
Germany."

M. Pichon demands that the chan-

in arranging means by which Japan

LAST RITES SAID FOR MISS GROVER

AT BROTHER'S HOME SUN-
DAY AFTERNOON.

A large number of the friends of
the late Miss Edith Grover attended
the last sad rites for her which were said by Rev. A. B. Whitcombe at the home of the deceased's brother, Blake
Grover, Sunday afternoon. Many beautiful floral tributes marked the esteem in which the departed lady was
held and Mesdames Lee Read and Herbert Harms sang two beautiful sollections. The pall bearers were A. P.
Corbin, Mark Keller, H. A. Ahrens,
R. H. Scott, R. L. Johnson and Lee
Redfern. Burial was at Oakwood cemetery.

Local Improvement ordinances Nos.
169 and 161, were approved by County Judge Scott in the county
court this morning. The ordinances
provide for brick paving on East Second street and concrete paving on
Seventh street and the Chicago
Road respectively.

The Boys' Club of the Y. M. C. A.
had a splendid meeting yesterday afternoon, about 50 being present. The
meeting yesterday was for the purpose of forming an organization. The
club was made into two divisions,
the Senior and the Junior, but both
divisions will unite in giving entertainments to raise money for their
camp next year, in giving a father
and son banquet, hikes and other enjoyable features.

Railroads Present Their Case

Chicago, Nov. 30.—The adjustment
of wages and working hours of 55,- 000 engineers and firemen employed
on 98 western railroads was begun
today before the federal arbitration
board. The men ask an increase of 10
per cent in wages.

In his opening statement for the
engineers President Stone dwelt up-
on the hardships the men suffer;
the long hours they have to work
and the hazards they take, and said
they were entitled to better working
conditions and wages.

He declared the railroads medi-
tated the increase of train loads
which would thereby increase the
present responsibilities and labor of
the engineers and firemen although
"the present hard conditions have
reached the limit of human endurance."

TERTAINMENT—WOHNKE
WON RING.

The annual hazard of the Dixon
Elks came to a most successful close
at Rosbrook hall Saturday evening.
The crowd being exceptionally large
and contagiously happy. During the
entire evening the dance floor was
crowded to capacity while the candy
booth was a decidedly busy place. The
chief interest of the evening of course
centered in the awarding of the diamond ring, Fred Wahnke being the
successful contestant.

IN COMMUNITY.

The postoffice department is now
evolving a scheme with the idea of
reducing the present high cost of living. The scheme will bring about a method of sales of the farm produce
through the mails directly from "producer to consumer, thus cutting the
expense of shipment and profits of
the middlemen.

Large lists of names are being compiled in the different postoffices. The
list containing producers will be
printed and distributed among consumers and the list of consumers will
be printed and distributed among the
producers.

The parcel post system will be used
and parcels may be sent collect, under the new system, the collection being made by the postoffice department when delivery is made to the
party to whom the parcel was sent.
The regular parcel post charges will
prevail under the new system.

The case against Mrs. Jennie Keenan, who is charged with assault and
battery and disturbing the peace and
Police Magistrate Kent today, was
again continued for ten days. The
case involves the boundary line of
land and the continuance was taken
to give the engineers more time to
complete their survey of the lands.

Chicago, Nov. 30.—Senator Sher-
man of Illinois advocated today the
building of at least four battleships
yearly by the United States navy until the navy is adequate to defend
the coast line. He also favored increasing the standing army to 200,- 000 men.

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 30.—The
tax rate for the year was reduced
from 70 cents to 48 cents at the conference of Governor Dunne and the
state auditor and state treasurer.
The state has a balance in the treasury of $10,000,000, this making the
reduction possible.

GOOD SHOOT AT STEWARD

The Steward Gun club held a very
in Steward Thanksgiving day. Several hundred sportsmen were present and
many of them came from considerable distance. There was a big delegation from Mt. Morris and the marksmen from that town took home a fair
portion of the prizes. The Steward
men have equipped their club in up-
to-date manner. Standard rules are observed. The next shoot is scheduled
for the day before Christmas.

A septic sewerage disposal system has been installed at the Na-
chusa Orphanage by Bert Smice and
his plumbers from this city. The
system was completed Saturday and
is one of the most complete ever installed. The system contains more

MT. PLEASANT, IOWA, SCENE OF
GIRL'S DEMISE.

Today.

Mt. Pleasant, Ia., Nov. 30.—J. B.
Jordan, a church janitor, has been
held here pending an investigation
into the death of his nineteen-year-
old daughter Inez, who was taken
sick after eating pancakes, and who
died soon afterward.

Her mother and sister and Jordan
himself were made ill at the same
time, but the fact that he threw into
the fire the rest of the flour from
which the pancakes were made led to
his detention. He protests his innocence.

BY DERAILMENT.

A big Illinois Central freight engine jumped the track at the siding
just south of Woosung late Saturday
afternoon and as a result traffic on
that road was delayed for several
hours. The engine was pulling a
heavy freight and jumped just as it
was being driven onto the siding to allow the afternoon southbound passenger to pass.

The wrecker was called from Free-
port and spent several hours clearing
the wreckage before traffic could resume. Conductor Peter O'Rourke

LINQUENT BOY.

Another chapter in the career of
Floyd Carley has been opened and it
will not be closed until he has been released from the St. Charles school
for incorrigible boys. An order was
entered in the county court by Judge
Scott this morning that he be taken
there. Nothing was done in regard
to his younger brother Howard.

The two boys were taken to the Glenwood Training school for boys
about two months ago after they had
broken into and stolen a number of
articles from the Hensel Motorcycle
shop. They remained there only a few days and made their escape, returning to this city. As a result,
the order relating to Floyd Carley
was changed this morning directing
school.

Nelson Farmers Organize To Stop All Trespassing

Wilson Farm Arouses
All Nelsonites

The farmers of Nelson township
will meet tomorrow to organize a
protective association, the object of
which will be to vigorously prosecute
hunters who trespass on their lands.
The action will be taken as the result of the shooting of a valuable cow
on the Ashling Wilson farm last week.
Investigation showed that the shot
which killed the animal was fired
at close range, as the small shot had
not spread over a greater area than
the size of the palm of a man's hand,
and it is the belief of those who have
investigated that the animal was
shot deliberately. As a result the Nel-
son farmers are up in arms, and following tomorrow's meeting a careful
a fund will be provided for prosecution.

F. A. ZOELLER LAID TO REST SUNDAY

The funeral of Frank A. Zoeller,
who for over half a century was a resident of Lee county, was held at the
home of his daughter, Mrs. George Kreitzer, Sunday afternoon and was
attended by many friends of the deceased. The funeral sermon was delivered by Rev. F. D. Altman, pastor
of the Lutheran church, and was a worthy tribute of a worthy man. The
remains were borne to their last rest-
ing place in Oakwood cemetery by the
following pall bearers: W. H. Hogan,
J. J. O'Malley, James Allen, W. H.
Hendricks.

morning for Mt. Vernon where he
will assist in conducting one of the
quarterly state bar examinations.
Nearly 150 applicants will be tested

Brethren Revivals Start On Second Week With Interest

The revival meetings at the Brethren church have started into the second week with splendid interest. Despite unfavorable weather conditions
yesterday the services were well attended morning and evening. That
the deep spiritual discourses are being enjoyed, and that those coming
are not curiosity seekers is evidenced
by the reappearance of the same
faces. In the morning discourse the Church of Christ and its place in the
redemption plan was the theme, the
evangelist developed the idea upon
scripture texts, that the church of Christ was a mystery hidden in the
mind and will of God, before the foundation of the world, not revealed in
other ages, but first manifested at Pentecost, and Paul was made the
great exponent of its institutional
character, life and destiny. The church
is not only an organization, but a living organism. The difference between
these two, is the difference between a
dead carcass and a living body. Like
the vine and the human body, so is
the church a composite unity of living

DIVISION OF SENTIMENT DEVELOPS
IN CASE OF OFFICER

PETITION PLEADS FOR HIM

Council—Trial Dec. 3rd.

In the absence of Mayor W. B.
Brinton, Commissioner Henry Schmidt presided as acting mayor over
the deliberations of the city council
in its regular session this morning.
The feature of the meeting was the
discussion of the case of Phillip
Cunningham, a local police officer,
who has been charged with intoxica-
tion.

Bills to the amount of $2443.37
were allowed and a permit to move
a building in West Dixon was
granted.

Divided Opinion.

The Cunningham affair seems to
have stirred up considerable interest. It seems that reports came to Commissioner Van Bibber, of the department of public health and safety
been conducting himself according
to the recognized rules of the organization. The officer was suspended,
but according to the ordinance, he
is entitled to a trial, and so formal
charges, accusing him of being in an
intoxicated condition, have been
filed with the city clerk and Commissioner Van Bibber today produced affidavits which he had secured from Dixon people who claim
to have seen Cunningham in what
they believed to be an intoxicated
condition. Affidavits from Daniel
W. McKinney, Roy Withers, Jerry
Onen and Hannah Falstrom, along
with this line were produced and read in council. Commissioner Van Bibber
sons who had stated that they had
seen the policeman in this condition.

Opposed to this evidence was a
petition signed by a large number of
the most influential men in the city
pronouncing Cunningham to be a
man of good character, etc., and asking the commission to return Cunningham to the force. The signers
on the petition are men of such
character that it shows there is a
great diversity of opinion on the
question.

The following resolution was of- fered by Commissioner Van Bibber and passed without a contesting vote:

Whereas, charges have been filed
against Phillip Cunningham, a police
officer of the City of Dixon, Illinois,
alleging that the said Phillip Cun-
ningham was in a state of intoxica-
tion while on duty as police officer
of said city, and

Whereas several of said charges have been reduced to writing and

Wire Thief Apprehended By Associated Press

The interesting manner in which
the officials of the Associated Press
apprehended a "wire thief" is told in the following dispatch from New York:

New York—H. L. Linder, a telegraph operator in the employ of the Postal Telegraph company and attached to the office of the New York
Globe, was arrested here on Friday
charged with violating section 552 of
the penal law, in that he revealed the
contents of a telegraphic message
sent out by the Associated Press.

For a long time it has been evident that the dispatches of the Associated Press were being stolen systematically and were redistributed by a number of smaller agencies to their clients.

Suspect Man in Globe Office.

A careful watch was set upon the
business and suspicion pointed to a
certain man employed in the office of
the Globe, a New York evening paper,
as the guilty party.

The case was considered by the executive committee of the Associated Press directors at a recent meeting,
and a plan to detect the culprits and

bring them to justice was adopted.

For the purpose of transmitting the
more important news in bulletins,
wires connect the central office of the
organization at 51 Chambers street
members in New York.

Bulletins Copied Secretly.

In the office of the Globe these bulletins were copied surreptitiously by
H. L. Linder, a telegraph operator employed by the Postal Telegraph company, and repeated to the New York
News bureau, a Wall street concern.

Frequently within two or three minutes after their receipt in the office of
the Globe they appeared on the news
bureau's ticker and in the reports of
the International News service, the Central News of America and other
minor organizations.

Plan to Trap Wire Tapper.

For the purpose of trapping the
wire tappers the following dispatch
was prepared:

Checked Chic from Paris. cuffs of black satin formed by the reversible nature of the material. The skirt is quite plain, with a flounce of black satin.

An original note is made with the mesh of purple satin, lined with mouseline-de-soie in the same shade. The white lawn chemisette, perfectly plain, and without anything in the shape of a jabot has as ornament a single pearl in the centre pleat.

The caplike black hat worn with it fits the head closely at the back, but shades the face a little in front. It is in a mixture of black and white fine straw, with a purple satin bow on one side.

In the costume before us the violet satin and mouseline-de-soie sash upon this black and white dress gives it distinctive charm.

Red Mouseline.

Two Odd Jabots.

One was, strictly speaking, a tie; it was of black velvet, with little flowers done in ribbon-work in a queer, pinkish old gold. The center of each blossom was held down by a tiny gilt bead; and the maker said it took her just half an hour to fashion! The other was really a jabot; silk embroidered mull, all white, with the alternate figures worked over in the very palest colors—blue and pink and green and violet and yellow, all very faint and subdued.

The effect was charming, and was heightened by a lace ruffle dyed in iridescent hues, but, like the jabot itself, very quiet and inconspicuous.

A Dressmaking Hint.

In stitching the work drops over the machine and often is dragged into the wheel. A plain creoline curtain, tacked just under the shelf or table of the machine, helps wonderfully with this trouble. Tacks must not be left out to catch on the work.

The very latest Paris modification of the artificial corsage bouquet is the single flower, orchid or chrysanthemum, or what not, worked in delicate shades of fine work wool, wondrously wrought both as to form and color, and nestled within the scarf.

OVERCOATS.

The overcoat is the logical division between the bread line and the pay check. It is the first thing a man buys after he has acquired

A good thick overcoat against which a blizzard will curl up and ruin its edges can be bought for $7.00. A considerably thinner overcoat can also be purchased for $120.00. Yet the man who buys the latter coat regards the former with scorn and alludes to him as "the ignorant" class.

Overcoats tell much more of the careful observer than the palms of the hands. When a man wears a broadcloth coat with a Persian lamb collar it is a sign that he will curse fervently when the income tax is mentioned. When a man wears a costly old coat with a greasy collar it is a sign that he is right but not socially

When a husband and father wears an arrogant overcoat which flares in the skirts and looks saucy about the waist, it is a sign that his wife has to plan an attack upon him for a new winter hat as carefully as if he were defended by floating mines. On the other hand, when a husband and father is continually making last year's overcoat do for one more winter his family devours his pay check and he walks to and from work for exercise.

Now and then a young man may be observed wearing an overcoat which was apparently designed by a cubist master. In such cases it is perfectly safe to approach the young man in a familiar way and ask him for a cigarette and his college yell.

Occasionally one also discovers an elderly man with iron gray hair wearing an overcoat with gillows of furry collar and cuffs. In this case one should mention the stage with caution unless he is willing to spend the rest of the afternoon hearing about Broadway.

Overcoats are a punishment to the small boy, a boon to the grown man and a trial to the old settler who has to be hoisted into one by two daughters and a grandson. Americans are divided roughly into two classes—those who worry about styles in overcoats and those who ask how long they will wear.

Associated Press Experts Tells of Interesting Events in the World of Sport — Live Sporting News From all over the World.

New York, Nov. 30 — Following the annual Army-Navy football game in Philadelphia will come the usual selection of an all-American and all-Eastern and all-Western teams for the season of 1914. The adherents of the two United States Academy teams will await these mythical combinations with more than usual interest this season since both the Annapolis and West Point teams include players thought by their admirers to be of an all-American calibre.

Last year the Army and Navy each succeeded in placing a player on the team considered by football players in general to be the nearest approach to an official eleven. Browne of the Cadets team was placed at right guard and Merillat of the Middle at right end. This brought the total up to ten for the period extending from 1901 to 1913. Bunker, the Army's right tackle and Daly, quarterback in 1901, were the first service players to make the all-American team. Daly had, however, made the teams of 1898 and 1899, while playing quarter for Harvard.

In 1902 the Cadets were again represented by Bunker, who was placed at right halfback in that year. Two years later the Army's famous center, Tipton, was the unanimous choice of the experts for the position of passer back of the ball. Three years elapsed before an academy player was again mentioned and then the Navy placed Dague, left end of the 1907 combination, on the eleven, while Erwin, the Army's right guard was also named. It was not until 1911 that the Service football men made the all-American team again. In that year the two academies divided honors, Devore of the Cadets being at right tackle and Dalton of the Navy at fullback. As a result the count stands at present, Army 7, Navy 3.

BASE BALL TALK.

With the passing of football there comes a lull in the active major sports of the nation, but the fans composing the Winter Baseball league will keep interest alive even though the magnates break all precedent by imitating the Sphinx. With Organized Baseball, the Players' Fraternity, and the Federal league all offering fuel there should be no need of fanning the flames. In fact all signs point to one of the liveliest seasons of indoor baseball in a decade.

Although the echos of the world's series are just dying away the magnates, managers and players are already planning for the 1915 campaign. Regardless of the possibility of sensational changes in ownership and circuit, arrangements for the spring training trip of a number of the clubs have already been planned. The Chicago Nationals will work out the winter stiffness at Tampa, Fla., beginning on March 1; the St. Louis Nationals have selected Hot Wells,

Dramatic Notes

The following four subjects will be shown at the Family this evening: The Ham Loner, a Kalem comedy along a new line; Dick Patten's Wife, an Edison modern fairy story; The Green Rose, with Alice Joyce, Tom Moore and Marguerite Courtot; The Upper Hand, a Vitagraph comedy with a beautiful love story. To shield himself he bleaches his wife's good name which she clears and later becomes the wife of the man who loves and honors her. Tomorrow the seventeenth episode of the Perils of Pauline, in two parts, will be shown.

DIXON OPEAR HOUSE

Back to the movies again tonight, two installments of the Trey O' Hearts, four reels of great pictures. Two of the most exciting episodes of this wonderful serial will be seen tonight, the 13th and 14th installments next Monday concludes the series. A three reel installment. Don't miss "His Uncle's Will" tomorrow night, a wonderful two reel Rex drama, "The Hoodoo," a Joker comedy and "Dolly's Deliverance," a frontier drama.

PRINCESS THEATRE.

Tonight the Princess will show a fine program in a two reel feature entitled "Mrs. Van Ruyter's Stratagem" a Thanhouser drama with Harry Benham, Muriel Ostriche and Carey Hastings in the leading roles. This is an exceptionally interesting society drama in which a wealthy widow has reason to suspect the sincerity of her relatives who are in line to inherit her fortune. The other pictures are "Motherhood," a Beauty drama with Marguerite Fisher and Harry Polard in the leading roles. This is a powerful allegory of a girl and man who meet in the garden of love. The other picture is entitled "The Little Country Mouse," a Majestic drama with Blanche Sweet and Wallace Reid in the leading roles. This is a clever situation, well handled by two screen favorites.

GARRICK THEATER CHICAGO.

"Peg O' My Heart" Continues to be the biggest hit in Chicago.

The deference to popular taste so often mentioned as a reason for presenting plays which startle by boldness of theme instead of appealing by force of idea, or grace of expression, does not seem to be entirely appreciated by that same public for whose sake so much sacrifice of managerial modest is made. There have been numerous experiments with triangular plots, in the fall productions in Chicago, but Oliver Morosco's comedy success: "Peg O' My Heart," J. Hartley Manners' play continues on its fifth month at the Garrick theater, with a popularity that is smashing all previous Garrick attendance records.

Oliver Morosco, the California producer, is indeed to be commended for his selection of this simple and most straightforward of dramas with its sweet, old-fashioned love story, its English novelists like to draw. The refreshing role of Peg, is cleverly played in Chicago by Miss Peggy O'Neill.

A PAIR OF SIXES.

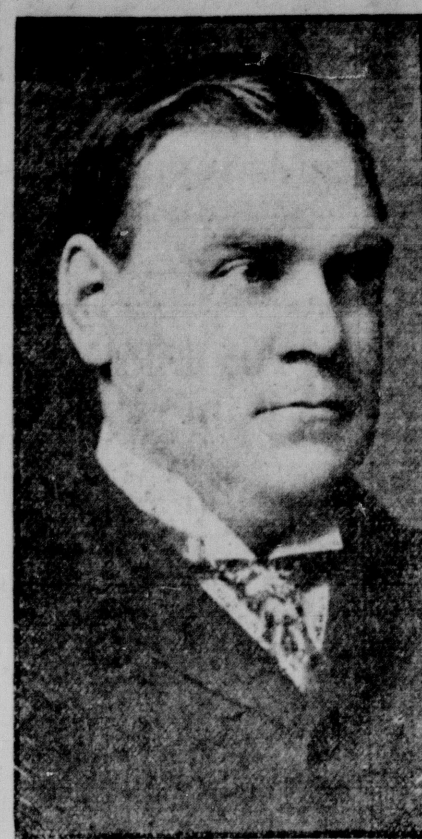

Cort Theatre—Chicago. Seldom in the theatrical history of Chicago has any play scored such a tremendous success as "A Pair of Sixes," the original American farce by Edward Peple, which is now filling the Cort theatre to capacity every evening and on Wednesday and Saturday matinee. The Cort theatre is a playhouse noted for its fine attractions and long runs, but it is breaking all its former records with "A Pair of Sixes." This play is now in its third month in Chicago, and there is no falling away of patronage, no lessening in size and enthusiasm of the audiences. Before coming to Chicago A Pair of Sixes enjoyed a run of eight months in New York, and naturally the Chicago success was expected. The play is clean, wholesome and bright notwithstanding the fact that it is one succession of explosive laughter from the time the curtain rises until the final line. The comedy is of the pure American type, dealing with business and with the domestic side of life, with just sufficient love-making to give it a tinge of romance.

The finest comedy cast ever engaged appears in A Pair of Sixes. It includes Frank McIntyre, remembered as the star of The Traveling Salesman; May Vokes, star of When Dreams Come True, and The Quaker girl; Ethel Jackson, star of The Merry Widow; Sam Hardy, star of Stop Thief; Richard Ling, Oza Waldrop, Elise Scott, James Galloway and a dozen others.

DEMENTTOWN DOINGS

On the best of authority we learn that tomorrow is the first day of the last month. Goodness, how time does fly.

Really, between doing one's Christmas shopping early and formulating New Years resolutions, one is kept strikingly busy.

A certain Dixon young lady—the story is told by a friend—while in Chicago on a recent visit, consulted a fortune teller. The clairvoyant, during her seance, told the young lady to beware of a dark man whom she would meet soon, adding, "He will be a villain." And the girl replied, "How perfectly delightful. How soon will I meet him?"

Retired.

Among the Monday morning culprit hailed before a police magistrate was a darkey with no visible means of support.

"What occupation have you here in Baltimore?" asked the magistrate.

"Well, jedge," said the darkey, "I ain't doin' much at present—jest circulatein' round, suh."

His Honor turned to the clerk of the court and said:

CALL SUNDAY TO CHICAGO.

Sixty-five congregations of Chicago have united in a call to Rev. "Billy" Sunday to come to the Windy City and conduct a series of revival meetings in a big tabernacle on the west side. The call will be delivered to Mr. Sunday at Des Moines this week.

ENJOYED VICTROLA CONCERT.

The Victrola concert, which was given in connection with the evening service at the Baptist church on Sunday evening, proved to be a most interesting and popular innovation and doubtless the instrument will be used more frequently in the coming services.

Chrysanthemum Party.

Miss Tina Nelson of Swissville was hostess to a chrysanthemum party at her home Saturday evening, the pretty affair celebrating the anniversary of her birth. She was 12 years old and 12 little friends aided her in the celebration. It might have been called a chrysanthemum party. The home was prettily decorated in chrysanthemums, yellow and white. After games were played and music enjoyed, a delicious luncheon was served, two tables being set in the dining room, where the candles were shaded in chrysanthemum shades and the same flowers formed the centerpiece in the tables. At each place were dainty place cards with chrysanthemum designs and each little guest received in eager willing little hands a big yellow rose. At a late hour for little folks, the happy guests departed, wishing Miss Tina many happy returns of the day and leaving with her loving reminders of their friendship in the form of pretty gifts.

H. and H. Dance.

Another good crowd attended the dance given by the H and H. club at the Armory Saturday evening and thoroughly enjoyed the party. The Cochran orchestra of Sterling furnished the music for the dancing. The club will continue these Saturday night events throughout the winter. Herrick-Myers.

A wedding beautiful in its simplicity and exquisitely appointed was that of Miss Ruth Wilson Herrick of 65 Harvard avenue, Chicago and Ira Lee Myers of Prairieville, which took place Saturday afternoon, at 3 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Marsh Herrick.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. S. Frances of the Englewood Congregational church in the presence of forty-six guests.

The house was appropriately and artistically decorated in oak branches and palms, and pink and white roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin J. Smith attended the couple in the capacity of groomsmen and matron of honor. Mrs. Smith is a sister of the bride.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, George Marsh Herrick, was very beautifully gowned in white chiffon over white satin. She carried bride's roses. The matron of honor, Mrs. Smith was also in white and carried pink roses.

The young couple will be at home after Jan. 1, at 53 Yale avenue, Chicago. The groom is a traveling salesman in the employ of the Pilzher Hamilton, paper jobbers, with offices at Dearborn avenue, Chicago. Mr. Myers is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Myers of Prairieville and is well known in Dixon where he has countless friends who extend to him congratulations on the happy event.

Mrs. Myers is a very charming young woman whose many friends also wish her much happiness in her married life. Many handsome gifts were presented the happy couple. Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Myers of Prairieville, father and mother of the groom have returned to their home after attending the wedding of their son.

The congratulations of Dixon friends is extended Mr. and Mrs. Myers.

K. B. Aid Society.

Mental Suggestions for Health
Offered by the Rev. S. S. McComb—Let the Worrier Use them till the Worry is Gone and Peace is Restored.

"Suggestible as is the conscious mind, the subconscious is still more so," says the Rev. S. S. McComb, in Harper's Bazar. "Now we know that at least twice a day we have all brief periods during which the subconscious is in evidence and during which, therefore, we are especially suggestible. These two periods are those immediately preceding and immediately succeeding sleep. We are then in a halfwaking and half-sleeping condition, and any suggestion offered to the mind in that state is, in some inexplicable way, taken up by the brain mechanism and realized. Let the worrier, then, use well these few minutes at night and in the morning, by saturating his brain with suggestions that make against worry and that make for peace, poise, and nervous balance.

Nothing causes the hair so soon to thin and become gray and scanty as the frequent use of shower baths of cold water. The best wash for cleansing the hair and scalp, says the "Family Doctor," is made by putting into a quart of hot rain-water, a piece of lump ammonia about the size of a Brazil nut.

To this add two teaspoonfuls of solution of soft soap. By the time the ammonia has dissolved the water will probably be cool enough for use. If carbonate of soda is preferred instead of the soft-soap solution, a piece about the same size as the lump of ammonia will suffice.

Dry the hair well after washing with a rough towel—not "Turkish," however, else the hair will get filled with cotton "fluff," than which nothing is more troublesome to extricate. The wash just mentioned is particularly suitable for fair hair, because both ammonia and soda tend to produce and preserve an auburn or golden hue. Dark-haired persons should use the yolk of an egg beaten up with a little bicarbonate of potash or borax and warm rain-water.

A swimming apparatus that is said to be a big improvement has been devised by a German swimming master and is equally useful to beginners and adepts. It will keep the former afloat until he can acquire the proper stroke, and it will enable the expert to swim much farther and without tiring than he could without its aid. The apparatus consists of two oblong chambers, each divided into five compartments and with a loop to hang over the neck and a strap to buckle around the waist. This arrangement leaves the wearer perfectly free and avoids the pendulating characteristics of some of these devices. The swimmer can also take either a vertical or a horizontal position.

tion with this apparatus and can either tread water with it or float. When not in use the air can be let out and the supporter folded up and carried in the pocket.

Women's Clothes.

No man has the courage to defend the tall hat. No one professes that it is comfortable, useful or beautiful, but thousands of men (labor leaders among them) habitually wear them. A man in a new-fashioned coat or a new-colored pair of boots is at once an object of contumely, as in a riot which was almost caused at a music hall not long ago by a hero wearing a sparkling dress tie. A correspondent denounces the fashionable tight skirt and declares that the toddling woman is an object of ridicule to the passing man. That may be so in the case of the pioneers to-day, but to-morrow the passing man will insist that his wife shall toddle also. Let us be just! This is the age of the worship of majorities, and the normal male will not allow the woman that he loves to be peculiar. We believe, therefore, that the one way to withstand the maddest vagaries of fashion is to appeal to woman's sense of the beautiful. It is useless to tell her that man disapproves. She knows his fickleness too well.—London/Express.

Women Run Newspaper.

Egyptian women have a weekly newspaper, owned and edited by women. The appearance of the newspaper is regarded as a favorable sign of the development of the women of that country and as a promise of the regeneration of Egypt. The purpose of the paper is to improve the condition of the Moslem women, to educate them and to fit them to earn their own livelihood. It is expected to develop their standard of thought and intelligence and to train them to think and act for themselves. Egyptian women are employed as writers, and the weekly paper relates the society affairs of Cairo, tells of fashions and prints fiction.

Better Than a Tonic.

The woman who wishes to accomplish the best and most work possible will find that one hour's rest at a fixed hour every afternoon will do far more for her than stimulants. In order to obtain the greatest good from this hour's rest she must disrobe as if it were night, and then lie down in a darkened room and sleep for half an hour—or even less. She will arise refreshed and invigorated. One whole day out of 10 spent in absolute rest is a great restorer of strength, beauty and usefulness.

A Novel Idea.

At a recent luncheon a small white satin bag was at each place, together with the customary place card. The guests were requested not to open the bags until a given signal, when the "cat came out of the bag." Each bag contained a tiny little china kitten with a cord tied to its neck reading: "Mary Robinson Jones announces her engagement to Robert John Smith." The cat was literally out of the bag.

A mental scrap-basket is a great help; eliminate from your mind all things that merely litter it with worries and life will become lighter and brighter.

of Canada is neither feared nor anticipated, it became known that the Dominion government is exercising the greatest precaution against any possible raid on the part of German sympathizers across the Niagara river. Thirty militiamen are on duty constantly at Fort Erie, directly opposite Buffalo, and the whole river front from there to Niagara Falls and Queenstown is patrolled night and day by about 600 members of the newly formed home guard.

The views of William Howard Taft that this country could not invoke the Monroe doctrine to prevent Germany attacking Canada has not caused any comment on the part of the Canadian papers.

It is explained that the river patrol is to prevent the possibility of another raid similar to that of the Fenian raid. The patrol was strengthened after Major General Hughes, minister of militia and defense, had made a visit to the territory.

Predicts Early German Withdrawal.

New York, Nov. 30.—Assertion that the Germans would be out of Belgium within six months was made by Antonic Van Den Plass of Brussels, whose automobile factory in the Belgian capital was seized by the Kaiser's troops and is now being used to manufacture trucks for the invading army. Mr. Van Den Plass was one of the fifty-nine passengers arriving here on board the Minnehaha of the American transport line from London.

Mr. Van Den Plass employed 800 men in his automobile factory until Sept. 24, when he stepped out of it for the last time, hastening from the beleaguered city as the German troops entered. In a broken down old carriage, drawn by two decrepit horses, he, with his wife and son George and five pieces of baggage, drove from Brussels to Lierre on the Holland frontier. He said that of the 5,000 houses of Lierre only twenty-five remained intact. From Holland he made his way to London.

Mr. Van Den Plass expects to remain in New York eighteen months. He based his prediction about the Germans remaining in Belgium only six months on the fact that there is nothing for the invaders to live on in the despoiled little kingdom excepting three cities—Brussels, Antwerp and Bruges. He declared that the Germans always loot Belgian houses of wine, after which the atrocities begin.

PASSING OF MACADAM ROADS.

New York state has been reconstructing with brick pavement its country roads bearing heavy traffic. This is a final judgment that macadam has outlived its usefulness as a country road material where traffic is dense. The change is due largely to the coming of the automobile with its raveling effect upon the macadam highways, and the tremendous loads which try foundations.

For two miles of road near Albany New York is going to spend $51,000 for brick pavement. It is to be laid just as a brick city pavement would be laid, with a six-inch concrete foundation. Similar road improvements are going forward in the neighborhood of Cleveland, Ohio. It means that the day of paving highways outside the cities with material that will make a permanent roadway, has arrived.

This will bring up important new questions of financing road work. The first cost of such work is enormous and the maintenance charge is necessarily larger than upon dirt roads. Pennsylvania has already reached a point where financial considerations are halting its big good roads program. Farming property is not able to stand assessments for city paving on country highways. If that sort of thing is to be done on any considerable scale, some new means of spreading improvement assessments must be found. Probably the interested cities to which the highways lead will have to take a hand in supplying the funds.—St. Paul Dispatch.

RUSSIA'S VODKA SURPLUS.

Only listen to this—Russia has 20,000,000 gallons of vodka, proofing 95 per cent alcohol, which she would like to exchange for shooting irons, armored motor cars, steel rails, army tents, army blankets, or, probably, for canned music. The Russian soldiers, it is said, are even more insistent in the demand for music than are the Germans, and a supply of records that will grind out "A Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight," or some other inspiring air can easily be exchanged for a fair counterpart in vodka. And let us say that vodka, according to the reports that have floated across from the realm of Muscovy, is a high wine of such potent energy that our own much vaunted greased lightning brands seem like soda water in comparison.

It is reckoned that it has an exchange value equivalent to at least $20,000,000 in gold, and, well, Russia would just like to find an outside market for this high-power fluid. If only two or three million gallons of it could be surreptitiously served out to the German army along the Carpathian slope, about four hours in advance of a Russian charge, perhaps the on-to-Berlin movement would be thereby expedited.—Baltimore American.

JUST A LUCKY MILLIONAIRE.

It is not the size of the late Anthony N. Brady's estate that will be wondered at. The public has been so overfed with fat figures that a hundred million is the least it expects of a multimillionaire and Mr. Brady's appraisers find only seventy-seven. What must seem incredible, suspicious and even derogatory to a business judgment rated among the keenest is that the sum represented by automobiles is only $1400. A fortune of $77,000,000 and only a beggarly $1400 in "cars"! It is marvelous that a man so careless of the prime necessary of Americans should ever have accumulated a fortune. Why we all know plenty of men with fortunes from $7.50 to $770 who would be ashamed of not having more than $1400 worth of devil wagons.

Evidently Mr. Brady must have been merely lucky. He lacked appreciation of remunerative investment.—N. Y. Sun.

A GREAT VICTORY.

More complete reports are now coming in regarding the terrific battle waged Thursday between the "Allies" and the United Army of Turkey. Goose, Duck, Mince Pie and Cranberry Sauce, tells an exchange. The struggle raged all day and decisive results were reached by night, although the engagement is expected to be carried on until the first of next week, or until the united armies are in the soup. The slaughter was terrific on the side of the United Armies, the Mince Pie regiment being entirely wiped out by the Boy Scouts. Casualties on the side of the Allies were insignificant, as far as could be learned from the official censor. They consisted mostly of stomach-aches and nightmares, but all of the wounded are on the rapid road to recovery, so they say.

FAKERS GOT BUMPED.

The Associated Press put up a job on some of the alleged news gathering agencies in New York, including the New York News Bureau, the International News Service, the Central News of America and other minor organizations, and caught them in a cold-blooded theft of war news. They swallowed the fake news it sent out about the sinking of a Russian dreadnaught, hook, line and sinker, and printed it as a fact. It was a tough one on the fakers.

NO IMPROVEMENT IN MEXICO.

Conditions in Mexico are no better than they were when President Wilson sent our troops into Vera Cruz. We lost seventeen American boys to the cause and finally have pulled out without improving matters. If conditions were bad enough to demand our occupation of Vera Cruz, they are bad enough for us to stay there, for they are no better.

"MAGNIFICENT, BUT NOT WAR."

"The Panama Canal has cost $353,000,000—ten days' cost of the great war," says the New York World. Whether the statement of the daily cost of the war is correct or not the fact remains that whatever the cost, it is paid for the destruction of life and property, while the cost of the canal is invested in a work that gives service to mankind.—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

Dixon can stay home for a night or two now that there is a recess from fairs. Without fairs and movies, life would be less complex and strenuous in the country.

Do you know, Mr. Advertiser, that an advertisement is known by the company it is in?

WORTH MONEY.

Folks often say of Jasper Hunks, "That man is worth a million plunks." Which means he has a mighty hoard in some sly place of safety stored. His value, though, to fellow gents, would not amount to fifty cents. He never helped a human soul since he acquired his bulging roll; he never lets a dime get loose, on any pretext or excuse, unless he knows that it will earn another dime, and then return. He judges all men by their wads; the millionaires rank with the gods, and men who have no pile of kale to Jasper seem both cheap and stale. He kicks at every forward move; he hates to see the town improve, because he fears that better times may tax him for his sacred dimes. He never thinks of aught but cash; all other things to him seem trash; the only books he reads are those which tell of how a fortune grows; the only pictures which appeal to his old heart of rusty steel are those which on banknotes are seen—which decorate the good long green. He's worth a million, so they say. Ods bodkins! Alackaday! I wouldn't give ten cents a throw for fifty Jaspers in a row!

Add Petrograd under dash — Loss of Filiba—The Ismail was one of four Baltic dreadnaughts laid down at the Kronstadt yards in 1912. It had a displacement of 28,000 tons and carried nine 14-inch guns and twenty 5-inch.

Only Globe Gets Message. The short bulletin wire to the Globe office was detached from the circuit which included the other New York evening newspapers, members of the Associated Press, so that the message As anticipated, the dispatch instantly appeared upon the ticker, and not long after was printed in the papers served by other news agencies in different parts of the country.

As soon as this was done and before it appeared in any issue of the Globe, a notice to "kill" was sent out, and the telegram, therefore, at no time reached the public as from the Associated Press.

Filiba Cryptic Word.

The word Filiba was cryptic. Substituting for the initial consonant the consonant following it in the alphabet and for the two vowels the vowels following in the alphabet, F L I B A became G L O B E. Thus the culprits were left no chance for escape.

The telegram was identified beyond question, and its source made plain. The telegraph operator was arrested and made a full confession. He was arraigned before Magistrate F. B. House and held in $5,000 bail for a hearing on Dec. 10.

N. Y. News Bureau Watched.

In order to observe the methods of the New York News Bureau a trusted Pinkerton operator was employed and established himself as an investment banker, "Mr. R. D. Smith," at an office at 366 Broadway. He fitted his office carefully with a safe and appropriate furniture and installed one of the New York News Bureau tickers.

Employees of the Associated Press were assigned to watch the ticker with great care and to time each dispatch. During a period covering several weeks it was observed that the dispatches of the Associated Press were constantly repeated upon the ticker within five minutes after they were sent out by the Associated Press. The New York News Bureau is not a member of the Associated Press and not entitled to its service.

FADS IN DRESS.

Every Season Brings a New Crop to Which Some Rush, Others Scorn.

Every season one sees some little dress fad crop up which is rushed into thoughtlessly by many, and scorned quite as thoughtlessly by others, though they profess to scorn it because the mob has adopted it.

Hat pins have really become a fad. A woman is apt to number her hat pins now by the dozen. But the carefully chosen hat pin has decided trimming value and it pays to indulge in this fad if one goes about it warily and select hat pins that will be a beauty spot in the hat not for the day merely, but for all time.

The linen or lace coat collar is a fad that has decided value. With these one may give a fresh, pretty touch to ones tailored suit. Particularly is it an inexpensive way to freshen an old suit, the touch of crisp snowy white about the neck turning the eye with its charm away from the noticeable age of the suit. Linen in soft delicate colors with hand scalloped edge is very becoming and smart.

Handy pins are another little dress fad that can prove decidedly worth while. They usually overflow in a woman's trunk box. If they are chosen carefully, if they have character, they can add a telling note to the dress by chiming in harmoniously with the color scheme or giving an artistic accent of contrast.

The popular long scarf is another dress fad that can become an article of grace in a clever woman's hands. One is well worth owning.

So also is the long automobile veil, though many who never hope to own an automobile wear it because it is fashionable when draped across enormous hats. The wise woman knows it is almost indispensable for

steamer wear, for the sea-shore, for mountain use.

It is worth while to study the dress fads that drop sp. They may be merely fads that die in a night, with neither artistic nor practical value. Again they may have in them an idea that helps to some most useful and economical aid to dress.

The fad of a moment may make a thing fashionable. The wise woman will see if it has utilitarian value as well. If it has, let her seize upon it and make the most of her opportunity to bend fashion to her service.

New Dutch Collar.

The very newest thing in Dutch collars is one of net embroidered with colored silk and metal thread in an oriental design. This collar comes in two shapes—one the regular Dutch model and another with an extension at each front end like an attached tab. The colors of this collar are rich enough of black or colored satin or velvet.

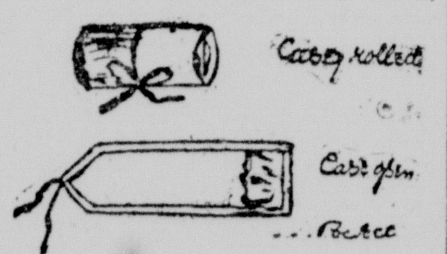

A collar of this sort is frequently built into a waist in yoke effect, closed at the back. Another collar can be cut into cuffs to match, and there you have all the trimming needed for, say, a black satin blouse. It is an idea worth trying.—New York Press.

Pillows and Mattresses.

To preserve the cleanliness of your pillows, make them covers of cheap calico to be sewn on over the ticking. These calico covers, being protected in their turn by the linen pillow slips, will only need washing about once in three or four months, and they will keep the pillows clean a very long time. Mattresses should be protected in the same way, or at any rate with strips of calico about half a yard wide sewn round the edges.

Jewel Case for Traveller.

A pocket at one end is useful for holding small articles. The entire cost of this case need not exceed 50 cents—30 cents for the wide ribbon, 10 cents for the narrow, and 10 cents for the flannel. It is excellent for holding a man's scarf pins.

It can be made of leather if preferred or of linen which may be embroidered.

Think Pleasant Thoughts.

When you are dropping off to sleep try to think of something pleasant and don't screw up your eyes and draw down the corners of your mouth, for both these habits help to bring wrinkles.

But really one needs to think pleasant thoughts in the day time, too, says Home Chat.

Pleasant thoughts bring a pleasant expression to the face, which, as the years go on, becomes permanent.

The people you meet who have pleasant expressions are the ones who have never allowed hard or unkind or discontented thoughts to find a resting place in their minds.

The Complexion.

To allay and soothe the irritation and roughness of complexion caused by hard water, sun or winds apply a lotion made as follows: Dissolve four ounces of spumax in a half-pint of hot water and add two teaspoonfuls of glycerine. Apply with the palm of the hand and gently rub until dry. Use this inexpensive and excellent face wash daily instead of powder or cosmetic. Spumax preserves the skin and beautifies the complexion, making it soft, smooth and white.

Salve for Boils.

Melt five cents worth of beeswax; into this stir one tablespoonful of sugar and as much laundry soap as beeswax. Add one tablespoonful of cold sweet cream. Spread on cloth, apply to boil and put on fresh every morning until the core is drawn out.

power and popularity, but to sacrifice, service and suffering. The destiny of the church is the most glorious of any supernatural or redemption body in all the plans of God. It is destined to share his glory as the bride of the Lamb, to sit with Him on the throne, and to be with Him and God the Father, the light and glory of the new Jerusalem.

The subject of the evening discourse was "Except the Lord Build the House They Labor in Vain That Build It." This was applied to the building of the human life and body for a temple of the Holy Spirit. The building is all in vain except God take control. The foundation must be Christ Jesus the Rock, or the building goes to wreck. Men and women build without God, and the great Inspector finds, instead of temples pest houses, cess-pools, tango and turkey trot whirligigs, human beer kegs and whisky jugs, and tobacco factories, human clothes racks, fashion plates. All of this goes down and is rejected of God as unfit material for the construction of a temple of God.

NEW RICHMOND IN MEXICO FIELD

General Villa Dickers With Zapata—Northern Ex-Bandit Says He Is Willing Southern Prototype's Forces Shall Control Mexico City if They Will Keep Order.

Washington, Nov. 30.—A new aspirant for presidential honors in Mexico is added to the list with the receipt of advices here that General Pablo Gonzales, one of Carranza's divisional chiefs, has proclaimed himself provisional president of Mexico and has named a cabinet.

This report received officially here comes from Queretaro where General Gutierrez, the Aguas Calientes convention's choice for president, has established himself. According to this information General Gonzales is at Pachuca with his forces, said to number about 8,000 men. Pachuca is north of Mexico City about fifty miles distant.

He Can Upset Plans.

Gonzales recently withdrew from Queretaro in the face of the advance of Villa and his troops and his whereabouts have for some time been more or less of a mystery. The mystery is now solved, it is believed, with the announcement that he has proclaimed himself provisional president. While it is doubted if he will attempt to take Mexico City at present it is admitted that General Gonzales with his present force can make himself a most disturbing factor in the situation and perhaps frustrate all the plans of either Villa, Zapata or Carranza so long as he holds his present strong position.

Villa Says Zapata Must Behave.

According to other state department advices negotiations are under way between the convention leaders and Zapata for a joint entry into Mexico City. Villa is reported to have declared that he is fully prepared to cooperate with Zapata and will not seek to take away from his forces the control of Mexico City as long as the Zapata forces preserve good order and prevent executions of civilians and looting of property in the city. Should the Zapatistas fail to preserve good order in Mexico City, however, he is declared as having said, that he would not hesitate to advance on the capital with all his available forces and take it away from them.

Carranza Threatens Tampico.

Further trouble is threatened at Tampico, according to advices received here, and it is expected that a repetition of the conditions existing when Huerta held the city against the attacks of constitutionalists is about to ensue. General Caballero, supposed to be holding Tampico under General Pablo Gonzales, has informed General Gutierrez of his adherence to the convention, thus indicating that Tampico merely awaited the arrival of the convention forces to take possession of it.

Carranza, on the other hand, is attempting to gain control of Tampico according to authoritative advices from Vera Cruz, is sending 2,000 troops from there to Tampico to take the city.

Arbitrator Overruled in Chicago and Western Indiana Case.

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 30.—The award of $525,000 made in favor of the Chicago and Western Indiana railroad and against John C. Fetzner by E. C. Field, as arbitrator, four years ago, was set aside in the superior court by Judge Sullivan here.

The arbitrator held that Fetzner had not accounted for sums handled by him as an agent of the railroad in the purchase of real estate and in other ways. The award was set aside because the court found that Field had expressed an opinion in the case before he was selected as arbitrator, because of the acceptance of evidence unknown to the defendant, and because Judge Field acted on the assumption that $275,000 had been paid for certain property by Fetzner when the arbitrator had before him evidence that the amount paid was $460,000.

Residents of Staunton, Ill., Ordered to Stop Use.

Staunton, Ill., Nov. 30.—Staunton, a city of 6,000 persons, is confronted with a serious shortage of water. A meeting was held at the office of Attorney Truman A. Snell, when prominent residents discussed conditions. It is expected the Illinois public utilities commission will be asked to assist.

Water for all purposes in the city is taken from a large reservoir, which is nearly dried up. Coal mines and owners of the ice plant are preparing to ship in water to continue operations. During the last few months water has been hauled in railroad cars to the coal mines.

Notices have been issued for everybody to quit using water from the mains.

POLITICS BEATS BOND ISSUE

Woman, Aged Eighty-nine, Casts Her First Vote at Alton, Ill., Election.

Tilton, Ill., Nov. 30.—Mrs. Christina Straube, eighty-nine years old, cast her first vote at the election in Alton. She was opposed to the proposition to issue $160,000 worth of municipal bonds and walked to the polls with her son, Otto Straube, to register her disapproval. She is said to have been the oldest person to vote.

Women served as election officers for the first time. The experiment proved satisfactory. The bond issue was defeated largely owing to opposition to its sponsor, Mayor Falstich. Most of the women voted against it.

DRINKING CUP PASSING.

New Law in New Jersey Forbids Its Use in Public Places.

Want a drink? Then, if you are in New Jersey, produce your cup or else get over the State line. The new law, which says that the public drinking cup must go is being enforced.

The price of drinking water, however, is not prohibitive. One cent will provide you with a cup. In the waiting rooms of every railroad terminal in the State, and beside the ice cooler in smaller stations along the line, you will notice a slot machine in which are displayed behind the glass a pile of paper cups, inverted and tucked into one another, like a long row of thimbles. The slot machine bears the following legend:

"Insert cent. Pull handle down. Take cup before releasing handle."

If you do this you get a dainty cup of paraffined paper, which is impervious to water, and without a spigot. This cup you hold under the spigot at the drinking fountain and get your drink. After drinking, if you are careless and don't think much about germs, you toss the cup carelessly on the stand, and leave it for the next careless person to use, or for the official custodian of the waiting room to remove. If you really obey the spirit of the law as well as the letter, you drop the cup into a kind of cage, suggestive of a corncrib on the farm, which is built up under the slot machine to serve as a waste basket for the cups. If you have the children with you, they will probably insist upon taking the cups home to be used at picnics.

To Secure Slenderness.

If you are taking on flesh at a rate that dismays you and will faithfully follow this advice you can secure stylish slenderness. I am glad to say you will not find my directions difficult to follow, for I do not believe in starving or violent exercise to avoid obesity. Just get four ounces of paraffin from your drug-gist, dissolve it in 1½ pints hot water, and take a teaspoonful of this harmless fat dissolver before each meal. Weigh yourself at the end of each week for four weeks and you will be delighted with the result. You will be lighter in spirit as well as body, for paraffin benefits the general health.—Philadelphia Record.

Too Much Salt.

The salt which so many cooks use to cover up the lack of natural flavor in food, and which persons with perverted tastes add to already oversalted dishes, is said to be responsible in large measure for not a few of the ills to which flesh is heir in the twentieth century. Among these are enumerated gout and rheumatism, and, worst of all, a bad complexion. But by salt is not meant salts. These latter play an important part, dietitians say, in keeping the blood pure and correcting errors in diet, but usually they are poured down the kitchen sink in the water vegetables are boiled in, instead of being placed in the alimentary canal.

An Economical Wash.

A woman who cannot afford costly toilet preparations may soften and whiten her skin by washing it well with white cornmeal mixed to a soft paste with sour milk. Use as one would soap, being careful not to get it into the eyes, and then rinse with lukewarm water. A teaspoonful of grated horseradish might be added to this in case of tan.

Let no man prate against graft who steals the slightest thing from another—it is merely envy that moves him to utterance.

In America the children are born with the instinct of the baseball fan. Every one begins life alike—it's the finish that tells the story.

That said Committee be, and it hereby is invested with full power to call and hold a hearing on said charges and to subpoena witnesses and do all other acts and things necessary to a full and complete investigation of the facts in said matter;

That said Committee be, and it hereby is directed to report its findings, conclusions and recommendations therein to this council at its next regular meeting and to cause all evidence taken at such hearing to be reduced to writing and filed with its report at said meeting;

That said Committee be, and it hereby is directed to cause to be served on the said Philip Cunningham, a proper notice in writing of the time and place of such hearing or hearings as said Committee may hold, at least two days before the time fixed for such hearing.

I move the adoption of the foregoing resolution as read. J. D. Van Bibber, Commissioner Public Health and Safety.

Appoint Commission.

Acting Mayor Henry Schmidt, according to the terms of the resolution, immediately appointed a committee of investigators who will try the Cunningham case. They are Commissioners Van Bibber, Cahill and Schuler. The date of the investigation is December 3rd, and the men on the petition as well as those who gave affidavits will be subpoenaed and will testify before the commission. All testimony taken before the commission is to be turned over to the council at its regular session next Monday, along with the report of the findings of the investigation committee.

Schuler Speaks.

Commissioner Schuler, regarding the petition signed by Dixon men for the retaining of Cunningham on the force, said that a great many men signed the petition without knowing what they were signing and that a half dozen had been to him to have their names taken off. He said that it was always easy to get any kind of a petition signed and that men displayed very little care in signing such papers. Mr. Schuler said that Dixon men should be warned to use more intelligence in signing petitions.

Improvements Confirmed.

The public improvements in the way of paving, concrete work, etc., on Second street, Seventh street and the Chicago Road were confirmed by the county court this morning without a single objection.

WILSON IN NEW COLORADO MOVE

Federal Commission Is Appointed to Act on Strike.

President Issues Statement Regretting That Operators Refused to Accept His First Plan of Mediation—He Can Not See His Way Clear to Remove Troops.

Washington, Nov. 30.—President Wilson has named a commission of three composed of Seth Low of New York, Charles W. Mills of Philadelphia and Patrick Gilday of Clearfield, Pa., a miner, to deal with the Colorado coal strike. The announcement of the appointment of the commission was accompanied by a statement from the president in which he expressed disappointment that the mine operators had rejected his proposals heretofore made for the settlement of the strike.

In his statement the president says: "The strike of the miners in Colorado which has now lasted for twelve months has attracted the attention of the whole country and has been accompanied by many distressing and tragical circumstances."

President Wilson then briefly reviews the efforts that have been made for an adjustment of the trouble and says he thinks the country regrets that the mine operators refused to have the difference referred to a commission appointed by the president during a temporary truce.

Can't Withdraw Troops.

"Merely to withdraw the federal troops," the statement continues, "and leave the situation to clear and settle itself would seem to me to be doing something less than any duty after all that has occurred. I have therefore determined to appoint the commission contemplated in the plan of temporary settlement notwithstanding the rejection of that plan by the mine operators and thus at least to create the instrumentality by which like trouble and disputes may be amicably and honorably settled in the future, in the hope, the very earnest and sincere hope, that both parties may see it to be not merely to their own best interest but also a duty which they owe to the communities they serve and to the nation itself to make use of this instrumentality of peace and render strife of the kind which has threatened the order and prosperity of the great state of Colorado a thing of the past, impossible of repetition so long as everything that is done is done in good temper and with the genuine purpose to do justice and observe every public as well as every private obligation."

Guided by Roosevelt Precedent.

In naming the commission to deal with the Colorado strike situation President Wilson is guided by the precedent established by President Roosevelt in the Pennsylvania coal strike case some years ago.

WHOLE CITY MOURNS FOR DR. JAMES CAMP

BUSINESS OF BRAINERD, MINN., AT STANDSTILL DURING HIS FUNERAL.

The Brainerd (Minn.) Daily Dispatch of last Friday says of the funeral of Dr. James L. Camp the former Dixonite who passed away there last week:

A city in mourning, with business places closed during the hours of the funeral, Brainerd did homage to the memory of the late James L. Camp this afternoon.

The funeral took place at 3 o'clock from the residence of C. E. Peabody an old friend of the doctor and with whom he had made his home for many years. Services were conducted by Rev. G. P. Sheridan, pastor of the First Congregational church, assisted by Rev. W. J. Lowrie, pastor of the First Presbyterian church. The casket was literally covered with flowers. The doctors of Brainerd gave a mass of roses, carnations and lilies of the valley which covered the casket. There were large set pieces from the Elks lodge, from the Workmen lodge and other orders. Tributes of flowers came from all sections of the northwest.

At the request of Mayor R. A. Henning business houses in general closed in the city during the hours of the funeral. The district court adjourned its afternoon session to the evening.

The State Board of Control drew resolutions on the death of Dr. Camp, member of the advisory commission for the Walker sanatorium. The Brainerd Chamber of Commerce physicians and surgeons of the city, and the Booster club adopted resolutions of condolence.

To the rich and poor, to people of all stations, Dr. Camp was a doctor who never refused to answer a call. He was an honor to his profession, a man who made friends and kept them. There was not a dry eye in the large concourse who listened to the funeral sermons which praised him for his many qualities, his quiet devotion to duty and his unassuming charity.

Fumigating Combs.

How often do we hear some person say that it is impossible to keep bees in their locality on account of the wax moth, claiming that a good share of the bees throughout the country are annually destroyed in this manner. If the truth was known, however, ninety-nine per cent. of all the colonies so destroyed are either queenless or have swarmed themselves to death and are too depopulated to protect their hives, the consequences being that the moths get the upper hand. If a colony is in good condition there need be no worrying over wax moths, even though the bees are of the common German strain.

April and the following warm months is the time when this insect is most in evidence. The larvae make a rapid growth feeding upon the grains of pollen and other ingredients found in old combs, for about twenty-one days, they then spin cocoons where a transformation takes place and they emerge shortly as adult moths.

Each female will usually lay about 300 eggs during her lifetime.

Retain Competent Road Officials.

It is asserted that one of the principal causes for the poor construction of roads is that the tenure of office of highway commissioners is uncertain, and that in most cases the office goes to the candidate who can secure the most votes. Politics, as we have often said, should in nowise be a factor when it comes to building roads or paving streets.

Improved road building is a new art, and a competent road builder, like a poet, is born, not made; and when his worth has been proved he should be kept in the office as long as he is efficient and keeps up with the march of progress in his line of work. So long as the office of highway commissioner is elective, the voters of a township should see that the best man is put in the office, and then re-elected. Much has lately been said in regard to making the office of highway commissioner appointive and strictly under civil service rules. Much can be said in favor of this plan, but until laws are changed, competent officials should be retained.

Destroy the Moths.

While moths do not destroy good colonies, one may wish to keep empty combs from one season to another and these must be watched or they may be destroyed by moths. At the first appearance of moth worms, such combs should be at once fumigated with bisulphite of carbon. If you have only a few combs place them in a barrel and set a saucer containing about ten or fifteen cents worth of carbon bisulphite on top, covering all with a piece of old carpet. The carbon bisulphite soon evaporates and being heavier than air, settles down through the combs. Comb honey when infested with wax worms can also be similarly treated. The only precaution necessary is to not work near a fire, as the stuff is highly inflammable.

BRITISH FOREIGN MINISTER ON WEEK-END OUTING.

Sir Edward Grey, British foreign minister, who was perhaps the most prominent figure in European politics outside of Germany just before the war began, now has time to rest. Ministers of war and the navy have taken up the work he tried to prevent. This photograph shows him at the country home of his cousin, Earl Grey, for a week-end rest.

Feeding Work Horses.

The general rule is that the work horses during the busy season should receive two pounds of feed for each 100 pounds of live weight, the heaviest feeding being at night. But one must not forget that the individual characteristics of the animal must be considered in determining the proper ration.

Facts About DRAINAGE DISTRICT NO. 1
and
Bates County, Missouri.

41900 acres of rich black corn and alfalfa land in the Marias Des Cygnes river valley in Bates County, Missouri, has been reclaimed from flood waters by the construction of a new channel for the river, and other work. The work is completed. This new channel is 23 1/2 miles long, 19 miles of this channel is 80 feet wide and 20 feet deep, with 4 1/2 miles is 100 feet wide and 20 feet deep. There are 12 miles of lateral ditches and as the new channel crosses the old channel but twice the old channel has been shortened seventeen miles by cutting off four bends. The system is comprehensive and complete and pronounced by eminent hydraulic engineers as making a great future for the lands affected.

Four-fifths of the land is prairie soil from 8 to 20 feet deep. Like Missouri Bottom Land. There is no better corn, winter wheat or alfalfa land. The valley is from 2 to 6 miles wide. The fall is 26 inches per mile. Price $40 to $65 per acre. Good terms to purchasers. 60 miles south of Kansas City. Excursion days, 1st and 3rd Tuesday of each month. For particulars address J. A. SECOND KILLING MAY REVEAL BAF SLYER

Gang Slays Supposed Weak
kneed Accomplish.

New York, Nov. 30.—Through the murder of William Doyle, known to his associates as "Little Patsy," who came to his death while in a saloon at the northeast corner of Eighth avenue and Forty-first street, detectives believe they will soon be able to find a clue that will lead to the arrest of the murderer of Barnett Baff, wealthy poultry dealer, who was slain while on his way home from West Washington market several days ago.

"Little Patsy," a familiar figure in the neighborhood, was suspected by bandmen of being faint of heart, the police say. Fearing that in his weakness, owing to the determined efforts of the detectives to run down the murderer of Baff, Doyle might betray his companions, the police say that the bandmen determined to forestall any revelations that he might make by killing him.

The police working on the Baff murder case are bending their energies to clues centering around the automobile in which the poultry dealer's assassins escaped. Two men who had information in the Rosenfeld murder case have been in conference with Walter R. Denel, assistant district attorney. What they disclosed is held in secrecy by the prosecutor's office. One of the men is known as a "squealer" and he figured prominently in the case against Lieutenant Charles Becker. The movements of the two men in the criminal courts building and while on their way to and from the district attorney's office were guarded carefully.

In searching out other clues one detective was sent to Philadelphia.

MRS. SIEGEL GETS DIVORCE

Three Women.

New York, Nov. 30.—Following three brief and secret hearings Supreme Court Referee Maurice Deiches secretly filed his report in the county clerk's office recommending that a decree of absolute divorce be granted Mrs. Marie Vaughn Siegel from Henry Siegel, the convicted department store head and banker. While Siegel was in court up state his counsel, Lemuel E. Quigg, was present at the referee's hearing here and contested every step of the divorce proceedings.

Mrs. Siegel named three co-respondents—a Mrs. Smith, a Mrs. Eddy and an unidentified woman; but it could not be learned today which one of the three figured in the hearings.

Backache is a heavy burden; Nervousness, dizziness, headache, Rheumatic pain; urinary ills; All wear one out. Often effects of kidney weakness. No use to cure the symptoms. Relief is but temporary if the cause remains.

If it's the kidneys, cure the cause. Doan's Kidney Pills are for kidney ills.

Read about your neighbors case. Here's Dixon testimony.

The kind that can be investigated. J. C. Kirkham, 11 E. Fourth St., Dixon, says: "I had been suffering from pain across my back for a long time, but didn't think it was caused by weak kidneys. Finally, a friend advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills and I got a box at Leake Bros. drug store. It didn't take them long to remove the trouble. The cure has been permanent. All I said about Doan's Kidney Pills when I endorsed them before, holds good."

WANTS MONEY PRETTY BADLY

Police Prevent Marriage of Man to Rich Widow Invalid.

Boston, Nov. 30.—By order of the police here a license was refused to George A. Nelson, who became well known in Boston as president of the Dorchester Bachelors' club, to marry Mrs. Francis M. Wilson, a widow, eighty-three years old, who lives in Charlestown and is said to be worth $80,000.

Mrs. Wilson is a confirmed invalid. She has been confined to her bed for the last four years and is never expected to leave it again. The police acted on complaint of Mrs. Wilson's friends, who asserted she was too old and physically unfit because of illness to marry.

WILLIAMS WINS OVER DAVIS

Illinois Democrat Elected to Congress by 1,737 Votes.

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 30.—Congressman at Large William Elza Williams, Democrat, of Pittsburg, was elected to congress over J. McCan Davis, Republican, by a majority of 1,737 votes. This was determined finally by the official returns from Cook county. The re-election of Williams was a surprise. The earlier figures showed he had been defeated in the Republican clean up and Davis at Springfield confidently said he had won.

Senator Lawrence Y. Sherman's official plurality over Roger C. Sullivan, Democrat, is 17,255.

FARM AT PUBLIC SALE.
The undersigned having met with a severe accident and unable to carry on farming, I will offer my farm of 116 86-100 acres at public sale on Monday, Dec. 21, 1914

At 2 p. m. at premises. This farm was formerly owned by E. C. Parsons and is located adjoining and south of the City of Dixon, Lee County, Illinois, about 80 rods from the Chicago & Northwestern railway depot, a part of N. W. 1/4 Section 8, Town 21 E., Range 9. Improvements: 7 room house, large barn room for 40 head stock and 100 tons of hay; granary, hog house, chicken house, milk house, good well, windmill and tanks, land slightly rolling but under good state of cultivation. As this farm adjoins city limits the advantages of good schools and churches, grain and stock markets are all that one can ask for. The location is fine and anyone wishing a small farm, it will pay you to investigate this one and attend the sale.

TERMS: 10 per cent cash on day of sale, 40 per cent March 1, 1915. Mortgage back at 6 per cent on balance due in three years. Possession March 1, 1915, when deed will be given and abstract showing merchantable title. For further information see the auctioneer.

GERMAN POSITIONS TAKEN, SAYS PARIS

Official Statement Claims Several New Successes.

Paris, Nov. 30.—The afternoon's war office statement says:
"On Nov. 29 (Sunday) the enemy's cannonading was more active but carried on chiefly with seventy-seven millimetre pieces; his heavy artillery has made itself felt very little. Under these conditions the artillery struggle has turned particularly to our advantage."

"In Belgium our infantry captured several supporting positions to the north and to the south of Ypres. In the country to the north of Arras one of the enemy's attacks, undertaken by nearly three regiments, has definitely failed after several counter attacks carried out in all directions."

"Between the Somme and Chaulnes we have made perceptible progress. In the neighborhood of the village of Fay our troops came into immediate contact with the wire entanglements of the defense."

"In the region of the Aisne between Vailly and Berry-Au-Bac a group of machine guns and a foundation for thirty centimetre pieces were destroyed by our shells, one of which caused an explosion in one of the enemy's batteries."

"In the Vosges three counter attacks undertaken by the Germans for the purpose of recapturing ground previously taken by us in the Ban de Sapt region were successively repulsed."

REPULSE COUNTER ATTACKS

Berlin's War Statement Reads Like One Issued From Paris.

Berlin, Nov. 30.—(Via London.)—The following official report was given out at army headquarters:
"This afternoon there is nothing to report from the western army. Yesterday the attacks of the enemy in the region to the southeast of Ypres and to the west of Lens failed. In the east the situation on the right bank of the Vistula remains unchanged. Russian advances in the neighborhood of Lodz were checked and were followed by successful counter attacks by our troops. There is nothing of importance to report in regard to southern Poland."

An Annual Gift.
Although the Rev. Mr. Carter knew that the senior deacon of his new church was a thrifty New Englander, he was not entirely prepared for some of the evidences of Deacon Getchell's peculiar thrift. "I don't know as I favor your exchanging with the Harborville minister more than once in the year," said the deacon shaking his head at Mr. Carter's suggestion of a second exchange.

"I thought you all enjoyed his preaching," said the minister, with surprise, "I had understood so."
"That's not the point," and the deacon's chin took on the look so familiar to his family and friends. "The point is that we pay five dollars and twenty-five cents more a Sunday for our pulpit than they do over to Harborville. So when you go over there it's just the same as presenting the Harborville church a present of that sum, and what I'm saying is that once a season's enough for us to contribute to their support."

Charity.
The broken hearts, the burning tears, The shuffling gait, the shifting eyes, Distressing pains and wild the fears—
Oh, heartrending the piercing cries
Of suffering poor remind all ye Of charity, sweet charity.

Now note the grief-bent, ailing forms Of pilgrims weak with hopes adrift—
Their hair streaked gray, the lost in storms—
To Heaven they their faces lift!
Ye who are strong and good will see
Sweet charity, sweet charity.

No battles fought bring greater fame, No higher glory win brave souls Than earning, ah, enduring name Upon the noble-hearted scrolls.
Than aid the poor and lift the free
To charity, sweet charity.

On the "Congressional Record."
The hour for going to press was near,
The forms awaited the make-up,
The managing editor dropped a tear
And longed for a good old shake-up.

"Newspaper life is hard," said he,
"When it comes to running a sheet
That hasn't a notion of policy,
Nor even a ten-line beat.
Never a line of telegraph,
Never a stick of 'mis,'
Never a cub to get the gaff—
Never a sheet like this!"

The editor yelled for a copy boy,
But never a boy came nigh.
He looked for a copy-desk slave to annoy,
And mournfully heaved a sigh.
"We haven't a wedding, a smash-up, a crime,
Railroads, markets or weather,
We're scooped on politics every time,
And our ads, are light as a feather."

Never a line of local news,
Never a stick of State,
Never a change of type to use—
Pity the editor's fate!"

He gnashed his teeth in impotent rage
And groaned in his deep dejection,
"We haven't a book or a theater page,
We haven't a sporting section;
A half-tone cut, a Sunday story,
A woman's page or an office cat,
How can a journalist hope for glory Running a sheet like that?"

Never a sparkling paragraph,
Never a bit of verse,
Never a devil, never a staff—
Could editor's lot be worse?"
—Troy Reporter.

To Father Time.
Backward, turn backward, O Time,
In thy flight!
Give us an autoleas day and a night,
Give us a "yellow" sans headlines to scan,
A rustless skirt, and a hustleless man,
A babe teddy-bearless, a microbeless kiss,
A fistie fight fakeless, a straight-frontless miss,
A giggleless schoolgirl, and—better than that!—
A summer-clad college man wearing a hat!

I know, Father Time, that I'm asking too much,
But turn to a day ere a dinner was lunch.
Swing back to an age perovideless for hair—
An aeon ere "rats" made their rendezvous there—
An old-fashioned breakfast without Shredded Hay,
A season when farmers went whineless a day,
A burgh moving-pictureless—ah, what a treat!

A gumless-girl town and a trolley-less street;
I'm asking too much, but I pray, Daddy Time,
For days when a song had both substance and rhyme!
—The Bohemian.

Before the Rain.
Clouds are dusky gray and still,
Nature's waiting for the rain;
Birds have ceased their song until
They can feel the sun again.
Trees are waiting, patient too,
Hushed and silent as they stand,
Till the breeze comes sailing through Fresh'ning all the weary land.

Water's rippling like a song
Where the willows bend above,
Gently coaxing it along
With a tender mother-love.
The long grasses tilt and sway
To the music's mystic flow
In a dance of elish play
Mirrored in the stream below.

Sentinel poplars, straight and tall,
Upward turn their shining leaves
And the tree-toads scrape and call
In a tune that oddly grieves.
There's a brooding tenderness
That's so sweet it starts a pain
Yearning through and through your best,
Then—here comes the driving rain.

—Grace G. Bostwick, in Everybody's.
